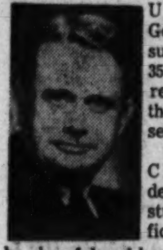
RALPH McGILL

Three Items About 'Labor'

By no means all the world's labor news is concerned with the dubious morality of the Teamsters Union or Mr. George Meany's suggestions for a 35-hour week and representation on the Federal Reserve Board.



Communist China has ordered millions of students and office workers to be cheerful and happy as they are registered for manual labor. The new Peiping concept is that every office worker and student must experience a certain number of months of physical labor each year. The work will be done on farms, in factories and in mines.

For the older there will be a month of such work. Students will give three months of their time to farm and factory work. Those called up include members of standing committees of provincial party organizations and several deputy governors.

Even with severe Communist supervision, this program is almost certain to have dire results. Releasing swarms of students and office workers to field and factory cannot do other than slow down production and demoralize procedure.

Unskilled Labor

What likely will happen is that this mass of unskilled "labor" will be set to work moving dirt on large construction projects. China lacks earth-moving equipment. Americans who served in China during the second great war will recall with what awe they watched the thousands of women who carried what seemed unimportant amounts of stones or earth in small baskets, yet whose labor built long runways for aircraft or cleared large areas for construction. India and Asia afforded the same, almost unbelievable illustration of what can be accomplished by the filling and emptying of millions of baskets, each holding unimpressive amounts of material.

Bulgaria's Communists have announced they are first to "equalize" the peasant and the worker. All farm help in Bulgaria now is paid a daily wage. It is not equal with that paid industrial workers. It is a typical Marxist generality.

Nonetheless, the fact that all Bulgaria's agriculture is roughly 96 per cent collectivized and that she is first to put all workers on a wage basis is significant. The Bulgarians are Slavs. Yet, the Slavs of Russia have resisted collective farm pressures. So have the Chinese Communists.

However startling the Meany proposal of labor membership on the Reserve Boards may have been, it illustrated the fact that big labor is not committed to any policy of destroying the American system with Socialism or Marxism, as some critics charge.

FRS Board

Nor is there any good reason why a qualified person in the ranks of labor should not be appointed to a FRS board. But there is no real validity to the argument of a right to appointment because of labor membership.

We have here a practical illustration of a semantic trap. The Federal Reserve Act was a 1913 triumph by President Woodrow Wilson and Carter Glass. It was viciously opposed by most of the large banks and by the major financial interests of the country. They cried "ruin" and radicalism. Now they support it as the great bulwark of our currency system.

In the 1913 act it was written that "commerce, industry and agriculture" should be represented on the central and regional boards. The use of the word "represented" is unfortunate in its 1959 meaning. It was never intended to signify representation as an attorney represents a client. Also, at the time there was no concept of labor such as exists today.

It is regrettable that Mr. Meaney's proposal did not receive more discussion. He would be on much stronger ground if he urged that qualified men from the ranks of labor be considered for appointment. They should be when fully qualified. To argue merely that labor, per se, should be "represented" on the national and regional boards is an approach which, if carried out to its ultimate possibilities, would, in time, destroy the integrity and functions of the Reserve System.

Macmillan Flies Home As Talks Fail

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Prime Minister Macmillan and Premier Khrushchev ended Anglo-Soviet summit talks Tuesday with complete disagreement on Berlin, but with a Russian promise of early negotiations to save "peace and security" in the world.

Diplomats here remained pessimistic about the chances of an East-West meeting.

Macmillan flew home in a cheerful mood and announced on his arrival in London he hoped to visit Washington shortly to report to President Eisenhower and "concert our policies." He will go first to Bonn and Paris next week.

In Washington, the White House said Tuesday afternoon Eisenhower had asked Macmillan to come here at his convenience and that no time or details have been arranged.

Macmillan said in London that he would like to meet with Eisenhower around the middle of this month.

The British and Russian statesmen agreed in a final communique signed in the Kremlin that they would look into a partial East-West troop withdrawal and removal of nuclear weapons from Central Europe—a variation of the "atom free zone" plan of

Whitman Prodded by Vandiver

Gov. Vandiver threatened Tuesday to use "other means" as George P. Whitman Jr. remained mum on the governor's demand to resign from the State Board of Education.

Vandiver restated his demand Tuesday.

"His compliance is the only way to restore confidence in the Education department of Georgia," the governor asserted.

VIRTUALLY SILENT

"When a state official or employe hides behind the fifth amendment and refuses to answer questions put to him by a grand jury, he must say that he refuses to answer on the grounds that to do so might tend to incriminate him," Vandiver added.

Whitman has remained virtually silent since Vandiver on Monday demanded his resignation because the board member had refused to testify in the Fulton Grand Jury's probe of state purchasing methods.

Reached by one newsman, Whitman would only say that "I do not feel disposed to make any statement or decision at this time."

NO REPLY RECEIVED

Vandiver said he had received no reply from Whitman but that he had acknowledgment of receipt of his letter to the school board man. (The letter was sent by registered mail.)

The governor said he did not think that the situation was serious enough to warrant calling the General Assembly into special session to institute impeachment proceedings.

"There's another possibility. If I don't get his resignation, I'll go into that," Vandiver said.

Whitman is a constitutional officer of the state. Ordinarily such officers can be ousted only by impeachment. Vandiver did not explain what his "other means" might be.

Fair, Warmer Expected Today, Rain Tomorrow

The weather vane points to warmer temperatures and fair skies for Atlanta and north Georgia Wednesday.

Thursday's forecast calls for cooler temperatures and rain. Extremes of 36 and 60 are predicted for Wednesday. Extremes of 45 and 54 are forecast for Thursday. The normal temperature for the Atlanta area this time of year is 49 degrees, the weatherman said.

Wind gusts hit up to 30 knots in the Atlanta area Tuesday. The city's temperature extremes for the day were 40 and 53.

$62,000 State Order Left to Rust

By GENE BRITTON

The State Parks Department last year bought $62,000 worth of steel and sheet metal for storage buildings it had no use for, the new head of the department revealed Tuesday.

Charles A. Collier, whom Gov. Vandiver named to head the Parks Department, said most of the steel ordered for the buildings is lying on the ground at various park sites rusting.

He said his department doesn't have the $25,000 to $30,000 that erection of the buildings would cost. There is also no place to store the storage building materials, he said.

10 BUILDINGS INVOLVED

Purchasing Department records show that Collier's predecessor, J. W. Brinson Jr., signed a requisition for 10 buildings for a total of $62,044.50. The purchase order was dated July 17.

Collier said the materials were delivered to two parks near Bainbridge, two on the Clark Hill Reservoir, Chattooga Park, Fort Mountain Park, Kolomoki Park, Magnolia Springs and one near Brunswick.

Only two of the buildings have been constructed, he said—one in the Bainbridge area and one at Magnolia Springs, near Millen.

PLANNED FOR STORAGE

The 30 by 90 foot buildings were intended for storage, he said, "but they were planned for some park sites where there was no earthly need for them."

Even if the department had the $2,500 to $3,000 needed for erect-

State Calls For Liquor Fund Facts

Oxford Demands Contribution Count

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Liquor dealers must swear by April 1 how much they contributed to the T. V. Williams "illegal liquor" fund or lose their licenses, Commissioner Oxford announced Tuesday.

The information is part of set of detailed questions Oxford approved in a drive on the "underworld element" within the Georgia liquor industry.

Data will be made available to the state income tax unit for possible prosecutions for evasion, Oxford said.

OUTLINES PURPOSE

The revenue commissioner said the contribution question and others are being propounded merely "for information" and not specifically aimed at finding out how much Williams collected.

However, the size of the fund has been a source of much controversy. Williams was indicted and acquitted on charges of converting part of the funds to himself.

In announcing the new forms for Georgia's 1,050 retailers and 34 wholesalers, Oxford said he believed an underworld element had worked its way into the state's liquor business.

"It's going to be interesting to see what kind of reaction it (the new set of questions) will get," he added.

SUSPENDED ALL LICENSES

Oxford suspended all licenses when he took office in January but allowed dealers to continue operating until new regulations were prepared.

Information to which dealers must swear will include:

1. The names and holdings of each partner or stockholder.
2. Whether the owner has interest in any other liquor stores in Georgia . . .
3. The names of any persons or firms "having," directly or indirectly, any financial interest in, or who will derive any profit from, the operation of this business."
4. Criminal records of personnel.
5. Photographs and fingerprints of personnel.

The question which would include the Williams fund says: "Have you ever contributed to any fund (voluntarily or otherwise) sponsored by the liquor industry, or any liquor regulatory official, within the past four calendar years? . . . Did you deduct such payments as a business expense on your income tax return?"

Dealers also will be required to reply to this question:

"If during the past 10 years you have bought, sold or exchanged any real estate, automobiles, or securities with any other person engaged in the liquor business, or with any regulatory official, give full details."

Oxford said the information supplied by the dealers will be screened by Paul E. Bryant,

The teller, Frank Whalen, 58, a retired Lake Forest police captain, collapsed after telephoning a report of the robbery to police. He was dead when police arrived at the loan association offices in this Chicago suburb.

The holdup occurred when all the association employes except Whalen were at lunch.

Rescuers Work to Revive Negro Children After Wreck Near Tifton

Laughs Turn To Screams Of Terror

Constitution State News Service

TIFTON—Laughter and youthful chatter turned into screams of panic Tuesday when a school bus plunged into a roadside pond near Tifton, killing nine Negro children.

The tragedy might have been even worse but for tireless rescue efforts.

FIGHT FOR WINDOWS

Five boys and four girls, ranging from 7 to 14, lost their lives as the children fought to reach windows of the bus partially submerged in four to five feet of water.

A picture of pure terror inside the bus was drawn by the driver of the county-owned school bus.

"The larger ones (children) were standing on the small little ones," said driver Doyer Jones, 40, a Negro. "That's what caused so much trouble. Those (the small ones) were the ones we lost."

The emergency door on the bus was only half covered by water but the door handle apparently had been pulled off by the children in their efforts to open it.

Another story on bus wreck on Page 5.

The driver broke windows and remained in the bus until every child had been pulled out. James Collins, 17, and Oscar Holt, 15, first out of the bus, were joined by five white men, Carl Lowry, Eli Joyner, Jack Withers, Ike Jackson and Charles Ahrens, in helping the driver lift the conscious and unconscious bodies from the bus and carrying them about 15 feet to the embankment.

Twelve children were brought out of the bus for artificial respiration. Three were taken to the Tift County Hospital with a good chance to live. Five were soon found to be beyond revival and after working for more than an hour the doctors gave up hope for four others.

DEAD LISTED

Principal R. L. Mack of the Wilson Elementary and High School in Tifton identified the dead as Leroy Tabor Jr. and Gloria Jean Davis, 7; Rufus Harold Green, Bobby King and Henry Ed Johnson, 8; Billy Tabor, 9; Bernice Henderson, Artie Lee Simmons and Erlene Wilcox, 14.

Three of 40 children brought to the hospital revived Tuesday afternoon. They were identified by hospital administrator Jim Williams as Gloria Knight and Thomas Maulsby, 9, and Robert Knight, 10.

Pioneer Hurtling Nearer to Moon

By JOHN W. FINNEY

(Copyright, 1959, The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—Amerca's Pioneer IV, a small, gold-plated capsule of instruments, soared toward the vicinity of the moon Tuesday night, on the way to an orbital rendezvous with the sun.

After a year of planning and four failures, the United States succeeded in breaking the bonds of the earth's gravity and sending a rocket payload into outer space.

The 13.4-pound Pioneer IV, launched by a 60-ton Army rocket from Cape Canaveral, Fla., early Tuesday morning, was following an S-shaped trajectory. It was expected to pass the moon at a distance of 38,000 miles and go on into an elliptical orbit around the sun.

By 6 p.m. Tuesday the capsule had completed half of its 250,000-mile trip to the vicinity of the moon, thus going farther into space than any U.S. rocket.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which sponsored the successful lunar probe experiment, predicted Pioneer IV would pass by the moon at 2 p.m. Wednesday—some 41 hours after it left the launching pad at 12:11 a.m. E.S.T.

As a scientific experiment, Pioneer IV was pronounced "an unqualified success" by space administration officials. Its instruments and small, battery-powered radio transmitter were reported working perfectly, sending back a stream of new information about radiation in space.

The Pioneer lunar probe program, first authorized by the Defense department in March a year ago, had failed, however, in one of its principal objectives of having the United States first in the race to the vicinity of the moon. Instead the trail was blazed in

Police Stop Car, Atlantan Kills Himself

By KEELER McCARTNEY

"Well, I guess that's all she wrote for me."

With those words, a 35-year-old truck driver Wednesday placed a pistol under his chin and fired a bullet through his head, police were told.

Identified as Thomas Howard Kendrick of 1094 Ralph Rd., NE, he was pronounced dead shortly after being admitted to Grady Hospital.

The incident occurred, police said, as traffic patrolman R. J. Stephens stopped an auto occupied by Kendrick and a young woman at Moreland avenue and McDonough boulevard, SE.

Stephens said a motorist pointed out the car to him and said it had been weaving across the road. He said he instructed Mrs. Nell Weathers, 23, of Rte. 1, Doraville, who was driving, to pull into the yard of a service station.

Stephens said he stopped behind the car, but did not hear the sound of a shot. He added that

Today Is What We Have —Let's Live It, Pat Urges

By PAT BOONE

A lady once remarked to the Irish playwright and wit, George Bernard Shaw, that youth is a wonderful time of life. And Shaw replied, "Yes. What a crime to waste it on the young!"

When we look at one of our teen-age symptoms, restlessness, we begin to understand what Shaw meant. And, understanding, we can keep youth from being wasted on us.

Fourth of 18 installments of a best-seller book of advice to teens by a top-ranking young TV and movie singer of folk ballads and country music.

Juanita Bartlett understands. She, the executive secretary in our office, wears a little locket on which is inscribed: "Jam Today." That comes from "Through the Looking Glass," where the White Queen told Alice she couldn't have jam today, because "the rule is, jam tomorrow and jam yesterday—but never jam today."

The reason it's never "jam today" for many persons is that they live as if today was yesterday or is tomorrow. Older people either long for the past or worry about the future. To persons who think as they do, today is just a hyphen in between. This is as silly as the lady who lost all her hair. "How did you lose it?" a friend asked. "Worry," she said. "What did you worry about?" "Losing my hair."

Teen-agers generally want to storm on into tomorrow before they have lived today. Yet today is really all you have. Tomorrow will only be another today when it arrives. Enjoy today to the full and tomorrow will be another day to enjoy.

D'Alesandro Loses Primary

Unofficial returns from 497 of 572 precincts gave Grady 85,808 votes to 62,457 for D'Alesandro.

Grady, 42, a onetime FBI agent, toppled the heretofore well-entrenched D'Alesandro machine, which had been in office since 1947.

Lift Moral Climate, Grand Jury Told

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

"Flagrant" law violations by "high state officials" and "certain local police officers" has produced a low moral climate in Atlanta on which crime thrives, Judge Claude D. Shaw declared Tuesday.

The Fulton Superior Court jurist, in charging the incoming March-April term Fulton Grand Jury, asserted that "Once the atmosphere is changed we will most surely see a decrease in the crime rate."

Judge Shaw asserted that a change is needed in the city's moral atmosphere. "This is why it is so necessary to continue our present investigations at full speed until all guilty persons have been brought to justice and the innocent exonerated."

The judge told the grand jury it should continue the investigation of state affairs conducted by previous grand juries "with full steam ahead."

At the same time, the judge said Gov. Vandiver's promise of state aid to continue Fulton Special Prosecutor Paul Cadenhead's investigations of the state "is good news to all citizens of Georgia."

Vandiver said Monday he has found a way to provide funds to carry on the probe when the $50,000 allocation made by Fulton's

Government, Business Leaders Parade To Protest Time Story

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—The U.S. embassy people here went into hiding Tuesday to escape demonstrations set off by a Time magazine article that enraged Bolivians. The Bolivian government was harassed by a tin miners' strike.

The embassy personnel was reported to have slipped out under guard and taken refuge near the seething two-mile-high capital.

The whereabouts of the embassy staff was kept secret. The embassy phone went unanswered.

Bolivian officials and businessmen paraded late in the day past the government palace in a new demonstration against the Time magazine article. It suggested the country solve its troubles by being split up among its neighbors.

Tin miners, also a target of the article that offended Bolivia's intense national pride, went on strike for higher pay, paralyzing the government-owned mines, backbone of Bolivia's faltering economy. The workers walked out at the end of their 10-day deadline for the government to meet pay demands.

TERMED 'CIVIC' PARADE

Capital police were out in force to head off any violence such as marked Monday's wild anti-American demonstrations. Rioters burned an American flag in front of the U.S. Embassy and stoned the building.

The new demonstration, termed a civic parade, included top officials, military leaders, veterans and businessmen. All government and private offices closed down for the demonstration.

(In Washington, the State Department told the Bolivian ambassador it expects his nation "to take all possible measures to safeguard the lives" of an estimated 1,800 Americans in Bolivia.)

EMBASSY OFFICIAL QUOTED

Presdent Hernan Siles made a special effort to stem the tide of anti-American feeling by saying that U.S. officials had denied the statement in Time that touched off the outburst.

The article quoted an unnamed U.S. Embassy official. It said he made the following assertion as a "wisecrack:" "'The only solution to Bolivia's problems is to abolish Bolivia. Let her neighbors divide up the country and the problems.'"

The quote in question appeared in the current hemisphere edition of Time which circulates in Latin America, but not in the U.S. edition.

TIME GIVES STATEMENT

(In New York, Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time magazine, issued the following statement: "I very much regret that a reportorial story on Bolivia in Time, the weekly news magazine, should have been made the occasion for expressions of unfriendliness toward the United States. The story in Time was a factual analysis of Bolivia's economic difficulties—difficulties which for many weeks Bolvians themselves have described as likely to lead to a crisis. Ever since 1953, the American people through their government have given substantial economic aid to Bolivia and they may be expected to continue to do so. Nothing would give me greater pleasure than an occasion to report that progress is being made in overcoming Bolivia's economic difficulties.")

Siles told the nation Monday night there had been a "provocation by an irresponsible journalist that reflected the thought of international capitalism."

GOES HOME

Lou's Not on First

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Fat, funny Lou Costello, who with partner Bud Abbott comprised one of the entertainment world's most successful teams, died Tuesday after his second heart attack in a week. He was 53.

Abbott, 63, his longtime straight man and sidekick on screen and off, was at his home in nearby Encino. Friends sent word to him at once.

Abbott sobbed at the news.

"My God, what can I say?" he cried. "My heart is broken. I've lost the best pal anyone ever had. I'm not making sense. But, I'm trying to compose myself. I want to say something."

Costello, who started in burlesque, clowned with Abbott in vaudeville, movies, the stage, radio, television and nightclubs.

The two split amicably, in July 1957. Since, Lou had worked harder than ever as a single in nightclubs and in dramatic roles on TV. Bud has been taking it easy.

Costello's manager, Eddie Sherman, said Lou had been laughing and joking in his hospital bed most of the day.

He entered the hospital last Wednesday and his condition seemed much improved, Sherman said.

Besides his widow, Costello is survived by three daughters, Patricia, 22, Carol Lou, 20, and Christine, 11.

His last movie was finished only in January. It was a science-fiction epic, "Lou Costello and His 30-Foot Bride." He had not appeared publicly since, but was to appear on the Steve Allen TV show April 1 and May 1. After that, he was lined up for six weeks at a nightclub in Las Vegas, Nev.

Audiences loved Costello. He was the fall guy, always needled by the straight man's barbs, sometimes bruised by slaps and falls.

'WHO'S ON FIRST?'

The most famous of the comedian's routines was a sketch about a baseball team. He wrote it more than 20 years ago and first tried it out on the stage of Minsky's Republic Theater in New York.

The sketch "Who's on First?" has been used thousands of times. It helped make millionaires of Costello and Abbott. They performed it for as little as $20 and, after they became famous, for as much as $15,000.

$15,000 FEE

"We paid our agent $2 and then used up the other $18 on rides on the miniature train," Costello once recalled.

The $15,000 fee was paid for a special anniversary broadcast for an eastern drug firm.

By a strange coincidence Abbott was watching a television film of the "Who's on First" routine in his home when he learned of Costello's death.

"The picture was going into our baseball routine when our agent, Eddie Sherman, called me and told me Lou had just passed away.

'WHY WAS IT?'

"Tell me, why was I watching that picture at that particular time? I never watch it. After all, I've seen it a thousand times. And yet, there were Lou and I doing that. And then Eddie calls me and tells me.

"Tell me, why did I happen to be watching that picture at that time? Why?"

He began sobbing again.

While at Universal-International, Abbott and Costello were among the movie industry's 10 leading box office attractions. Their low budget pictures played a big part in keeping the studio in business during some lean years.

One of their movies, "Buck Privates," cost only $90,000 to make and grossed nearly 10 million.

Colombia Police Battle Thousands of Rioters

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Police battled thousands of students demonstrating against the government Tuesday.

Many were reported injured as club-swinging police broke up rampaging crowds that damaged and overturned automobiles throughout the capital.

The police also turned water hoses on the students.

Orators addressing the crowd accused the government of denying freedom of expression. They called on the police to "turn your guns against the government." Some of the speeches demanded the ouster of the minister of development, Rafael Delgado Barreneche, and called for a reduction of public transportation fares.

The automobile of the British ambassador was damaged by the demonstrators. Other diplomats also reported their cars were damaged.

AUTOMOBILE BURNED

One automobile was burned on Avenida Jimenez in the center of the city.

This was the most serious outbreak against Lleras government since he took office last August as Colombia's first elected president in more than a decade.

Lleras gained the nation's highest office under a unique political arrangement between the Librals and Conservatives.

The two parties had been engaged in a bitter civil war that drained the nation's resources and encouraged banditry throughout the rich coffee plantation area.

DECIDED TO END FEUD

But they decided to end the feud after the ouster of Dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinalla.

Under the political truce, the legislative posts were split between the two parties and Llras, a Libral, got a four-year term as president. Then a Conservative is due to succeed him.

Police used tear gas to scatter crowds at the corner of Avenida Jimenez and Carrera Septima in the heart of Bogota.

Prison Forgery Ring Broken in S. Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A forgery ring operating within the South Carolina Penitentiary, with a "field man" on the outside to pass phony checks and papers, has been broken up.

Prison Supt. Wyndham M. Manning said a former penitentiary inmate, John Hastings, 38, of Chester, is in custody in Charlotte. Six prisoners have been put in solitary confinement, and investigation probably will involve others.

Hastings was arrested at his home in Chester by two agents of the South Carolina law enforcement division, A. C. Shorter and Basil Peake.

He was charged with cashing three checks for $95.40 each. All purported to be payroll checks of the J. A. Jones Construction Co., Charlotte, and were made payable to "James E. Brown."

Manning said both the checks and identification cards used in cashing them, were printed by prisoners who worked in the prison's print shop and bindery.

One identification card was blue, trimmed in gold and silver, and was a makebelieve Trans-World Airlines credit card. Another was a bogus Social Security card, duplicates of which were found at the print shop.

A check of handwriting on mail from the penitentiary led to the implication of some of the prisoners.

Of those implicated in the deal, one, employed in a clerical job, was identified as the "brains." Four in the print shop and bindery cooperated in manufacturing the check forms and identification cards; and one other man, not employed in the shop, forged the authorizing signatures on the paper.

The prison said it learned that the ring was preparing for large-scale operations. Capt. M. O. Shealy of the prison staff said the ring planned to send out a flood of the authentic-looking checks to their outside contact at approximately the same time of the month that businesses had their paydays.

Police first got track of the case Feb. 4 when two men tried to pass one of the checks at a Charlotte clothing store. When the clerk said the check would have to be approved, the pair left and the clerk notified police.

New Riots Kill 23 in Nyasaland

Siege Rule Sets Off Prison Storming

(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)

SALISBURY, South Rhodesia—A death toll as high as 23 was reported in rioting throughout Nyasaland following the declaration of a state of emergency Tuesday.

The worst outbreak occurred at Nkata Bay on the shores of Lake Nyasa in the northern province, a hotbead of African National Congress opposition to the Central African Federation, where crowds of rioters stormed a prison in an attempt to release detainees and were fired on by security forces.

OPEN FIRE

An official report gave the casualty list as 15 dead and "seven known wounded," but other reports reaching Zomba, the capital, put the death toll at 17, with 13 injured.

At Fort Manning, on the Northern Rhodesian border, one African was killed when security forces opened fire on rioters who were also trying to free Congress detainees.

After the state of emergency had been proclaimed security forces arrested Dr. Hastings Banda, leader of the African National Congress. He was flown out of Nyasaland in a Royal Rhodesian Air Force Dakota to an unstated destination in Southern Rhodesia.

CURFEW SET

Troops, the Air Force and armed riot police were in action throughout the day in a round-up of African Nationalists under the code name "Operation Sunrise." Banda's rallying call has been "Kwaca"—"The Dawn."

Some 150 officials of the Congress have been detained and a 6 p.m.-to-6 a.m. curfew has been put on the twin cities of Blantyre and Limbe.

At Mzimba there was another prison raid incident. A mob of Negroes using women and children as shields defied a security patrol and set some detainees free.

At Karonga a squad of Tanganyika police was forced to open fire on a hostile crowd,

Tennessee's Senate Kills School Bill

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Senate shelved a bill Tuesday which would have prohibited attendance at integrated schools. Opponents said it would wreck the public school system.

The bill, which cleared the house 73-15 Monday night, brought o na full dress debate in the Senate. It finally was sent to the judiciary committee to die by a 24-8 vote.

"In effect, this killed the bill," said Rep. Ralph Kelley of Chattanooga, the House sponsor. Sen. Larry Hughes of Shelby County authored the Senate version.

Fulton School Tax Rate For Bonds Raised 1 Mill

The Fulton County Board of Education approved Tuesday a 1-mill increase in its school bond tax rate, but voted to absorb a $528,422 increase in operating expenses without upping operating taxes.

The board set its bond tax rate at 5 mills as required to retire a $3,325,000 bond issue, but kept its 20½-mill tax for operating purposes which is levied in the school district, and a 1½-mill operating tax levied countywid, at the same rate last year.

Board Pres. W. L. Robinson said that operating expenses for the 1959-60 school year are expected to increase $528,422, but "we anticipate having enough carryover to take care of this without raising the operating tax rate."

RESERVE EXPECTED

Finance director J. D. Wootan Jr. submitted to the board a resume of anticipated disbursements and receipts for the coming school year showing that revenues will increase $398,145, and that a $182,000 cash reserve is anticipated.

Increased revenues and the cash reserve will take care of the increase in operating expenses, he explained.

County Supt. Paul D. West commended local papers for adequately explaining that the 1-mill bond tax increase was, in effect, approved by voters when they voted on the bond issue last October.

NO "UGLY" LETTER

"We haven't had the first telephone call or the first ugly letter," West declared.

School district voters were told when the bond issue was presented that its retirement would require additional bond taxes.

In other atcions, the board approved an increased employes' group life insurance plan for its employes, subject to approval by them.

COVERS 967

The new plan provides increased coverage for 967 employes at an over-all additional cost to the school board of $1,406.10 annually.

The board also learned from Supt. West that it will receive $12,000 under provisions of the National Defense Act which can be used for "enrichment" purposes in revising curriculum.

Atlantan Kills Self in Car Drama

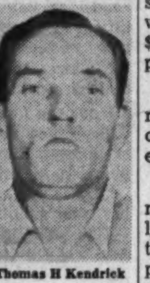
when he walked up to the car he found Kendrick slumped over in the seat, bleeding from a head wound, and saw a .32-caliber automatic on the seat.

Several persons including DeKalb Civil Court Judge J. Oscar Mitchell said they saw the car pull over. None reported hearing the noise of a shot.



Thomas H Kendrick

Detective W. D. Browning said Mrs. Weathers, a small blonde, said after Stephens ordered her to pull over Kendrick remarked:

"Well, I guess that's all she wrote for me."

"I told him it couldn't be that bad, that we hadn't done anything to be arrested for," she was quoted. "Then I heard a gun. I saw blood dripping off his chin. I couldn't believe it."

MET IN GRILL

Browning said Mrs. Weathers told him she met Kendrick Tuesday in a Williams street grill and he invited her to go out for a drink. She said they stopped by a service station on Techwood drive, NW, and purchased three gallons of gasoline and then Kendrick bought a pint of whisky.

Driving out Moreland avenue, they drank part of the whisky, Mrs. Weathers was quoted. She said she told Kendrick she had to return to town and pick up her husband, Robert Weathers, whom she married on Aug. 22.

GOING BACK TO TOWN

They were en route back to town when stopped by the police.

Mrs. Weathers was quoted that she never had seen Kendrick before Tuesday and did not know his name.

"I didn't dream he even had a gun," she said.

Browning said Mrs. Weathers was held for suspicion of material witness.

Kendrick was picked up January 30 on a traffic charge but had no other arrests, Browning said.

Youth Stabbed to Death Here In 10-Cent Dice Argument

Human life Tuesday went for 10 cents in Atlanta on a single throw of the dice, police said.

An argument over the 10-cent bet was given as a motive in the knife slaying of Eddie James Richardson, 17, Negro, of 513 McDaniel St., SW.

Harold Fears, 19, Negro, of R-547 Robbins St., SW, who was held in connection with the death, insisted that Richardson failed to make his point with the dice but picked up the money anyway.

Detectives W. K. Perry and C. J. Strickland said Richardson, in a death-bed statement at Grady Hospital, maintained that he did make the point.

A 14-year-old boy, Joe Copeland, of 445 Whitehall Ter., SW, was present when the argument began and gave Fears a dime in an effort to keep down trouble, Detectives W. B. Blackwell and J. F. Inman said.

The argument progressed, detectives said they were told, and Richardson was stabbed in the chest, the knife penerating his heart. He died after being admitted to the hospital.

Pioneer IV Blastoff Seen from Brunswick

BRUNSWICK (AP)—You don't have to be at Cape Canaveral to watch a space probe launching.

Brunswick residents early Tuesday saw the Explorer IV rocket set off by their television sets, then stepped outside and watched it directly as it headed for the moon and sun.

From a distance of 175 miles, the orange flame of the takeoff was distinct, and stages could be seen to separate. Then there was only a glow on the horizon as the rocket headed off into space.

Fiery Crash Of Bus Kills 27 in Mexico

CELAYA, Mexico (AP) — Twenty-seven persons were killed Tuesday in the blazing crash of a passenger bus and heavily loaded truck carrying whisky and other alcoholic beverages. Some of the victims burned to death in alcohol flames.

There were only six survivors. Both drivers were killed.

FIRE SEEN MILES

The Flecha Rosa—Red Arrow—bus carrying 31 passengers was heading from the U.S. border city of Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex., to the Mexican capital.

Between Celaya and Cortazar it crashed into the truck. Flames were visible for miles.

Red Cross ambulances and fire trucks from Celaya and Cortazar rushed to the scene. Witnesses said an area two blocks square was in flames.

TRUCK PARKED

Some witnesses said the truck was parked without warning lights and that the driver of the speeding bus crashed into the truck without seeing it.

Survivors were too badly injured to be questioned, officials said.

Federal highway police said they were checking on whether the truck's cargo of whisky and wines was contraband.

It's Time the State Accepted Its Duty

Highly encouraging in Gov. Vandiver's statement agreeing to state financing of "hot pursuit" cases in the special Fulton County investigation of corruption in state government is his remark that the state will "reassert its responsibility" in such matters.

That responsibility, the governor declared, has been "too long abandoned." Not even the most naive will disagree with that observation. It is so obviously true that one can but wonder why the situation, as bad as it had become, was not much worse. The state's legal department, headed by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, investigated little and found less of consequence on its own initiative about incredible instances of corruption which invaded department after department of government.

Without drastic changes in this legal machinery, it is a matter of some doubt whether the state can "reassert its responsibility." We hope, therefore, that the state can give all the help needed to Special Fulton County Investigator Paul Cadenhead and the Fulton solicitor in completing a job which already has yielded huge dividends to the state.

We have confidence in Gov. Vandiver's sincere desire to rid state government of corruption and to expose past abuses. To do so will require an alert and aggressive state legal department which cooperates with the various solicitors general and grand juries throughout the state. Only determined action will restore public confidence in government itself.

Meanwhile, Fulton Judge Claude Shaw yesterday charged the new term of the Fulton jury to continue "with full steam ahead" its investigation of state affairs.

The judge laid the blame for the increase in crime in Atlanta and other areas of the state to the "low moral atmosphere" created by flagrant violations of oaths of office by high state officials and local police officers. There can be no doubt this has helped lessen respect for law and order.

The whole moral climate of civic and public life has been threatened by massive corruption which far too frequently has been taken for granted. The people themselves have felt powerless and helpless at abuses of trust left unpunished.

Reforms are long past due. Halfway measures won't suffice. Not only must the state "reassert its responsibility" but local courts and prosecutors must do likewise.

Maybe Concrete Color Should Be Blood Red

In Los Angeles the Concrete Institute is calling for colored concrete highways. The objective is safety. They would put technicolored concrete at intersections and other dangerous places along our highways.

The idea again illustrates the potency of the dynamic force of innovation in the ceaselessly changing economy. First colored telephones, then colored appliances, then Easter-egg-colored automobiles, now colored concrete.

The American people definitely are color conscious. If strikingly or shockingly colored highways will make them more safety conscious, it should be worth a try.

What about shocking pink, crashing yellow or blood red as a starter?

Salt Water Conversion Would Aid Mankind

The problems of the Middle East are complicated by that same issue—a meager water supply and the right to control it. Wherever water has been scarce, men have fought for it.

Comes now a promise that the issue may be resolved—by a new and economically feasible method of making salt water fresh and usable.

Now we are near a breakthrough.

The government is setting up a demonstration plant to convert salt water through a new process which promises fresh water at $1 per 1,000 gallons.

On your water bill now you are paying at about 30 cents per 1,000 gallons.

The American who lives where water from the tap is cheap and taken for granted cannot fully appreciate what a feasible conversion method will mean to areas of the world which are not so fortunate.

Most of the world's population is underfed.

A principal cause is the lack of the fresh water it takes to grow food in abundance.

Peace in the world will come easier when men no longer have to reach for their guns to decide who has the right to draw from the well.

Sun Race Candidate Is Small But Encouraging

We are reminded of our national anthem . . . "Oh, say can you see . . . the rocket's red glare . . ."

Our second rocket shot at the sun is on its way. As we write, its signals are coming in loud and clear and scientists are optimistic. They believe it will miss the moon by some 35,000 miles, which is close, and keep right on going to orbit around the sun.

That's good. We can't see it but in the light of it our flag is still there and looks somewhat better.

We rejoice in its success but we also do not wish to forget the facts. And the facts are that the Russian satellite in orbit about the sun weighs about a ton and a half. Ours weighs 13.4 pounds. This permits us to know that the Russians are far ahead of us in missile development, particularly in the production of the powerful engines needed to hoist a ton and a half of weight into such a distant orbit.

But we are grateful for small advances. At least we are still in the game and able to get on base even if we can't yet hit home runs.

Pay for More Police Must Come From Taxes

This is a two-and-two-make-four editorial.

The city needs more policemen. That's not denied. Alderman Ed A. Gilliam has proposed an additional 60 immediately.

There is just one way to provide funds for this necessary expansion of police protection. That is through taxes.

A recent increase in liquor, beer and wine taxes provided a modest raise for the present force, whose pay scale relatively is low. But these taxes cannot bear the whole burden without increasing bootlegging, thus adding to the police task.

Alderman Gilliam has proposed a review and an increase in business licenses. Before the hurrahing starts, we want to endorse the idea.

Atlanta's tax rates are not high. The ad-valorem rate compares very favorably with other cities of comparable size. Politics in the legislative delegation caused a distortion and misunderstanding of that point. We are not a relatively highly taxed city. We pay less than some other cities which receive less in services.

We don't like taxes any better than anyone else.

But taxes are the price one pays for civilization.

If the review indicates an increase is in order, then we are for it. We cannot continue the childish attitude that we must have more police protection and more public services without admitting they must be paid out of taxes.

Let's quit kidding ourselves and get the job done.

This Crack in the Door Has Solved No Issues

Soviet agreement on an East-West foreign ministers meeting over the Berlin crisis does ease the immediate tension over that troubled city. So does the evident extension of the timetable beyond the May 27 deadline of Khrushchev's ultimatum.

But closer examination of the Soviet notes to the Western allies gives no hint of basic changes in Moscow's policy. Moscow still insists on limiting the foreign ministers' meeting to discussion of a peace treaty for the two Germanys and a "free city" status for Berlin.

In other words, the agenda for the meeting would be on Soviet terms. Larger problems of European security and disarmament would be left to a later summit meeting.

Prospects for such a foreign ministers meeting thus appear little brighter than before. The same conditions have been rejected by the West time after time and acceptance now would be a major diplomatic victory for Moscow.

It appears more and more probable, however, that Khrushchev's demands for a heads-of-state "summit" meeting finally will be accepted.

The Russians have left a small crack in the door. They have not opened it and there is little reason to hope that the slight relaxation of tensions is anything other than a temporary lull which will be replaced with a greater crisis.

Macmillan agreed with Khrushchev on no basic issues. He has performed a great service for the West, however, in exploring the extreme difficulties which lie ahead.

Policeman's Wife Gives Some Pointers On How Atlantans Can Help Curb Crime

College Park — Atlantans can do something about the increasing crime wave and juvenile delinquency if they have the stamina.

1. Demand stiffer jail and court sentences for all offenders and criminals. If laws are weak, strengthen them. If judges are too easy, replace them.
2. Parents should put a curfew into effect at home. Learn to say "No" to your children.
3. Mothers should stay at home. Many are guilty of neglect. Children need their mother's constant supervision, guidance and loving care.
4. Demand that policemen receive a salary of $400 per month. The men are weary of working their hearts out for peanuts. How would you like your husband working six days per week plus three to five nights on an extra job? Our husbands need rest.
5. Treat policemen with respect instead of contempt. Many of you are rude and often threaten to report them or "get their jobs" for doing their duty.

Try to understand one another and work not only for the good of Atlanta's name but for her people also. Policemen cannot do the job alone. The responsibility falls on each and every individual.

POLICEMAN'S WIFE.

Decaturite Puts Emphasis on Bible

Decatur — We must put strong emphasis on the Bible, prayer and the U.S. Constitution. They are bulwarks against communism, agnosticism and atheism.

'Stonewall Jackson Was From W. Va.'

Atlanta—I wish to say something in reply to Lewis H. Beck's remarks about the state of West Virginia not being a Dixie state.

In some ways he is right, but he must admit it did a lot for the South. Gen. Lee said he could have won the war if he had not lost Gen. Stonewall Jackson, and he was a West Virginian. Perhaps some confused Georgian was the one who shot this great leader. Who knows?

My own grandfather fell at the battle of Clouds Mountain and was carried a prisoner of war into Delaware and was kept long after the war was over because he would not pledge allegiance to the Union.

'Ex-Brass Pounder' Recalls Old Days

Douglasville — I immensely enjoyed Harold Martin's article regarding "Old Telegraphers," because I am one of the old "ex-brass pounders." I noticed one technical error which I will guarantee no one other than an ex-brass pounder would ever detect.

He states, "The Morse man sat in the press box beside the reporter with his bug rigged up and a Prince Albert can stuck on it as a resonator . . ." Every Morse set was composed of a "key" and a "sounder." Every key had a small lever which when pushed to the right broke the contact and opened the circuit. A flexible cord was attached to the "bug" at one end, had two brass strips on the other end and this was inserted in the key. That was the "sending" part of the set-up. The dash-and-dot sounds originated from the "sounder," and in order to magnify this sound, this was where the P. A. can was attached. The article led one to believe it was attached to the bug, but it was attached to the "sounder."

The world's record for the greatest number of messages was made on an Atlanta-Jacksonville wire: 920 messages in eight hours — that is 115 complete telegrams just as they came along per hour for eight hours. That pace would drive anyone crazy. Speed in handling messages is about equivalent to miles per hour on the highway that you can drive a car. Fifty to 60 per hour is "comfortable" for a first-class man, 75 is fast, anything around 100 is plenty dizzy. W. W. SUGGS.

One Can Always Find the Time

Cosman Eisendrath takes time to be friendly. Cosman is managing editor of the Biloxi Daily Herald, only daily on a fine strip of Gulf coast between Mobile and New Orleans. Without adequate credentials, I would never have had the temerity to go into a managing editor's office for a mere social visit. Managing editors have their problems. One is a space problem. They never have enough; space is always running out on them. So, too, often are reporters. So is time.

For getting into the office of the Biloxi Herald managing editor, I had Jacks as openers. A pair of them, Nelson and Strong, each of The Atlanta Constitution staff, each an alumnus of the Eisendrath "school of journalism."

Their former managing editor was on the phone, as you can depend on four in five newspapermen to be when you go to see them. The fifth is about to be.

M. E. (that's newspaper for managing editor) Eisendrath was wearing that harried look which meant he was short one or more of the three — space, reporters and time. He waved me to a seat. He put down the phone and smiled. We had a pleasant conversation. He had nice things to say about two Jacks who had gone from his city into Atlanta.

He said he knew Georgia well, especially the Warm Springs area, as Mrs. Eisendrath had been a patient there after polio hit her several years ago. He went out to the car and met The Lady Who Reads Over My Shoulder and The Redhead. I thanked him for his generous hospitality, especially for giving so much time to a visiting newsman. He said, "One can always find time for that which he wants to do just as one always can manage to buy that which he really wants to buy." Such as necessities like fishing tackle, golf clubs and TV picture tubes.

Once there was an Arab who refused to lend a neighbor a rope on the grounds that he needed it "to tie up his milk."

"But how does one tie up milk with a rope?" the nomad who came a-borrowing asked.

The man with the rope said, "When one does not want to do a thing, one excuse is just as good as another."

HIGHLINE: Most of us would never recognize it if things did get back to normal.—Carey Williams, Advocate-Democrat, Crawfordville.

Macon Telegraph

In the Name of Humanity, Let's Help Mentally Sick

The estimate by former Sen. Peyton Hawes that perhaps 4,000 mentally ill patients at Milledgeville State Hospital could with proper treatment be returned to productive work is an exciting prospect.

Hawes should know what he is talking about. He has worked for years in and out of government in behalf of mental health programs. He is president of the Georgia Assn. for Mental Health. He is a practical man, not easily misled.

If his figures are accurate, every Georgian should feel an overpowering compulsion to speed the day those 4,000 fellow citizens can be released from the hospital.

There are obvious economic reasons why we should not hesitate to give the mentally ill the treatment they need. Instead of being a ward of the state, these people would become citizens capable of looking after themselves and contributing toward the help of others who cannot be restored to health.

But just in the name of simple humanity, health should be given back to the thousands at Milledgeville State Hospital who are not beyond recall.

Georgia's shortage of psychiatrists is a big factor in our failure to return to useful lives many of the patients at Milledgeville State Hospital. The state ranks at the bottom in the number of psychiatrists and psychologists. An informed and aroused public should insist on a correction of these deficiencies.

Former Sen. Hawes and his organization, along with the Macon-Bibb Mental Health Assn., many Georgia psychiatrists and others interested in mental health, are just now beginning to see the fruits of their long labor. They are entitled to all the support the public can give in carrying their projects through to final success.

All Things Bloom Again Somewhere

We drove up in the yard and the house was old and gray and weatherbeaten and winter was still upon it and it looked bleak and cold. But all around in clumps and clusters yellow jonquils waved and nodded in a breeze that had the first faint warmth of spring in it and in it, too, the first faint fragrance of spring flowers.

My aunt, tiny and frail and old, walked with me through the flowers. "Your great grandmother put them here," she said, "a long time ago, more than a hundred jonquil generations ago. We never bothered them, we never dug them up and spread them around, as I guess you are supposed to do. But somehow by themselves they have spread, I don't know how, the little clumps expanding and joining until they make one field of flowers. Look."

We walked around to the back of the house and the great oak tree in the back yard, the biggest, oldest oak, I guess, in all the county, was standing in a sea of gold.

"They are the bravest of all the flowers," my aunt said. "I see them from my window when the days are cold and dark and gray and there is snow still on the ground. I see them pushing upward through the snow, the green shoots coming up with golden tips like little golden spears.

"The little ones that smell sweet are the first to come, when the earth is still cold. The big ones come next but they have no fragrance. Then the really big ones, the lighter yellow buttercups. And after them come the white ones that have the sweetest smell of all.

"Your grandfather used to watch the white ones. 'I've got to get my cotton seed in the ground while the white flowers are blooming,' he said."

"Your daddy loved the spring flowers," my mother said. "I never knew a man more crazy about flowers than he. He'd come in bringing me an armful of yellow buttercups. 'Mother,' he'd say, 'did you ever in your life see anything as pretty as that?' "

We leaned and picked the jonquils, great bunches of them, and put them in glass jars of water and took them later to his grave. The grass was brown and sere on the little mound below the white headstone, but nearby a bush with little red flowers on it was in a glory of bloom and at nearly all the graves there were little pots of bright spring flowers.

I put the flowers down at the Judge's headstone and my mother moved them quickly, a few inches to one side.

"That's MY side you put them on," she said. "Don't rush me!"

Then she laughed and I did, too. And I guess people might have thought we were crazy, standing there in the middle of a cemetery laughing.

But somehow in the spring when all the flowers are blooming it's easy even for the old to laugh at death. For the proof is there, so very clear, that whatever lives and dies and goes back to earth shall live and bloom again — sometime, somewhere.

Let's Be Logical About Self-Denial

Lent means many things to many people. This holy season is interpreted according to the traditions and disciplines of differing groups within Christendom. Lent ought to mean something special to each of us. My suggestion is that, if we cannot follow the spiritual practices of some special tradition, we at least should let Lent mean what it can in our lives.

One of the oldest Lenten customs is that of fasting. Some of us do not belong to groups which practice the abstemious disciplines wherein devout persons forego the use of desirable, though unessential, things. Whether we adhere to such practices or not, I am sure all of us can recognize the psychological value of such abstention.

The fact is that we are forever stuffing our bodies and starving our souls. If the willing surrender of some of these unessentials will make it easier for us to concentrate on spiritual truths, well and good.

The spirit of fasting and of the reunuciation of secular pleasures is practiced by all Christians, even those who do not follow formal regulations. Every Christian realizes that to achieve fullness of life he must give up anything that impairs or hampers God's full possession of us.

There are some dangers which attend the practice of fasting. First, the fast may become an end in itself. We may make the practice so important that we fail to realize the purpose behind the custom. This purpose is the enriching of our spiritual perspectives.

Second, we may keep the fast but lose those values which the fast is meant to encourage. It is to me inconceivable that a man would give up spiritually damaging habits during his fast but then take them up again after Lent. If anything tends to represent a barrier between man and His Maker, ought it not to be given up completely, not only during Lent, but for all the days which follow?

In the old days there were raucous and wild celebrations and carnivals preceding Lent. It was as though a people who would soon be deprived of many things wished to make up in advance by excess. It was common to indulge in the eating of all non-Lenten foods so that the cupboard might be bare before Ash Wednesday. We all recognize how illogical such behavior really is.

Third, we misrepresent the meaning of fasting if we give up a few nonessentials and forget that this self-denial period ought to lead us to the fuller kind of self-sacrifice wherein we take seriously our Lord's words, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me" (Matthew 16:24). We do not properly observe Lent or become worthy disciples until we willingly surrender our whole lives to God.

Communists Spout More Propaganda

WASHINGTON—There is much plausible appeal in Premier Khrushchev's simple solution for uniting the two Germanies. He reduces all the argument to a short one-sentence proposition which, in an otherwise bristling and name-calling speech, he puts forward with great reasonableness: "It is the task of the German people to reunite Germany."

In other words, says Khrushchev, let the Germans themselves decide how and when they shall unite and let others not "interfere."

What could be simpler? And to this end Khrushchev asks little more than that a peace treaty be accepted to enable the Germans to do this.

Well, what's wrong, if there is anything wrong, with doing what Mr. K. urges?

The answer to that question is that there are two catches behind Mr. K.'s words.

One is expressed. When he says that unification is "the task of the German people" which should be "settled by the Germans," he makes it clear that he means it is a task of the "two German states" and must be settled only by the two German governments —the government in East Germany and the government in West Germany.

The other catch is unexpressed. It is visible, known and undisputed — undisputed by anyone except the Communists — that the East German government was imposed by the Soviets, is dominated by the Soviets and on every important point of policy speaks the views of the Kremlin.

This means that when Mr. K. proposes that future unification should be settled by the two Germanys, he means it should be worked out between the West German government speaking for West Germany and the East German government speaking for the Soviet Union. So when Moscow says the big powers should not "interfere" with unification, he means that the United States, Britain and France should step out but that the Soviet Union will remain in.

Also, when Mr. K. says that the future of the two Germanys should be settled by the "German people," to get his meaning you have to substitute "East German state" for the East German people — and the East German state is run by the Soviets, not by the Germans.

Mr. K. says that the government and the social system of the East zone "has been chosen by the Germans voluntarily and is supported by the whole population."

Why don't we invite Mr. K. to put that claim to an honest test? If he is confident that the East German regime "is supported by the whole population" of East Germany, why should he object to a U.N.-supervised election to prove he is right?

BIG MOMENT FOR JANICE—When actor Richard Carlson visited the Atlanta Easter Seal Treatment Center Tuesday he gave Janice Austin, a 7-year-old cerebral palsy patient, two crisp one-dollar bills with which to buy a therapeutic toy. The money came from Roslyn Scheer, 9, who earned the cash by selling soft drinks. Roslyn's father is Fred O. Scheer, vice president of the North DeKalb Kiwanis Club, which has many times aided the Center.

Bible Tax Suspended Anew

Gov. Vandiver has reinstated the suspension of sales tax collections on Bibles.

The suspension originally was ordered by Gov. Griffin in 1957.

Submitting the ratification of the suspension to the General Assembly was "overlooked" during the 1958 and 1958 sessions, Vandiver's order said.

In addition, the order stated, sellers have continued to rely on the old order, though it was not technically valid because it was not approved by the Assembly.

Vandiver therefore ordered the suspension into effect again until the next meeting of the Legislature.

Books in Pond Tell Story of 9 Deaths

By PAULINE STEPHENS
Constitution State News Service

TIFTON—Notebooks and schoolbooks floating in a Tift County pond late Tuesday gave mute evidence of this county's worst tragedy—the drowning of nine Negro children.

By dusk Tuesday people still crowded to the scene and the flag over the city hall here flew at half-mast.

The accident that attracted so many people and caused so much suffering occurred early Tuesday when a school bus left an unpaved road and overturned into a five-acre pond two miles from Brookfield.

PITIFUL SIGHT

Leon Pitts, a fireman who assisted in rescue efforts, said, "you never saw such an awful pitiful sight!"

The dead include five boys and four girls. Three other children were hospitalized. About 40 were treated in the hospital, mostly for shock, minor cuts and bruises.

OPENED WINDOWS

The older Negro boys, students, opened two windows, crawled out and started pulling children out, Jones said.

Ike Jackson, who owned the pond, said he heard the splash and hurried to the scene.

Jackson said windows were kicked in to facilitate the rescue.

"It was terrible, because the children were screaming and holding to legs of those being pulled out," he said.

He said the children were first laid on the side of the bus, which was on its side in the water, and then transferred to the roadside. He said it took about 20 minutes to get all the children out. Whites and Negroes worked fast together.

RESPIRATION

Many of them were revived by artificial respiration. The rescuers were joined by state patrol, deputy sheriffs, three doctors, ambulances, Red Cross workers and fire department members, from Berrien County.

"When I got there, there were 10 children lying in the road," said Dr. Charles Zimmerman, first doctor to arrive. He went from child to child showing rescuers how to properly administer artificial respiration. Dr. Carl Pittman Sr. and Dr. E. M. Flowers arrived shortly and began giving stimulants.

"WOULD HAVE DIED"

Directing first aid was Ray Massey, city-county recreation director and a volunteer first aid and water safety consultant for the Tift County Red Cross chapter.

"It was a perfect job of rescue operations," Massey said. "Three more would have died but for the tireless work of those administering artifical respiration."

Soon after the accident hundreds of persons thronged the roadway, and cars were parked for a mile or more. The children were rushed to the Tift County Hospital in another bus. The tragedy took place on what is known as the Old Brookfield road. The bus was not heavily damaged.

After a wrecker moved the bus, the water was dragged but no bodies were found.

Virus Infections Spread, but Rate Isn't Alarming

Health officials said Tuesday an increase in respiratory infections—flu and other virus—has been noted in Metropolitan Atlanta but said the rate is not alarming.

"March is a month with lots of respiratory infections," said Dr. James Hackney, director of the Fulton County Health Department. "The rate is about normal, considering the season."

School officials said there has been a slight increase in number of pupils absent because of illness.

Neighbor Given 5 Yrs. in Killing

The rifle slaying of a neighbor because of his threat to give her soup bones to his dog brought a Negro woman five years in prison Tuesday.

Judge Luther Alverson imposed the sentence on Clara Eberhart, 46, of R-14 Northside Dr., NW, after she pleaded guilty in Fulton Superior Court to voluntary manslaughter charges in the Jan. 4 shooting of Maxie Lee Harmon, 38, Negro.

The woman told police she had some beef bones on a stove cooking and that Harmon said he was going to "get the bones and give them to his dog."

Tax Department Cracks Down On Excessive Coffee Break Time

The revenue department—in line with the new administration's drive for economy and efficiency—cracked down on coffee breaks Tuesday.

Vaughn Rice, new personnel officer for the department, put out an office memorandum threatening "disciplinary action" against revenue employes who linger too long at the coffee bar.

Some workers are signing in for work at 8:30 and then going out for coffee or breakfast, he said. "Breaks are to be arranged by each unit head in order that this violation does not reoccur," Vaughn ordered.

"We are needed..."

There are few of us in Atlanta who have not benefited, directly or indirectly, from the work of the Red Cross.

I think that so many people look upon Red Cross as a remote organization, serving people more in other areas of the country. This is only part of the story of Red Cross.

Red Cross has a tremendous task right here in Atlanta and in Georgia. There is the Blood Program, an around-the-clock service at no cost to anyone. There are the many services to veterans and members of the armed forces and their families. There are vital year-round training classes in first aid and water safety. There are valuable home nursing and child care courses. There is on-the-spot help in time of local disaster—and there were 70 disasters right here last year!

These and other Red Cross programs must continue giving service in Atlanta where service is needed. And we are needed—you and I—to give our generous support to Red Cross during its annual appeal.

"Claiming the young widow on an adjoining farm had married him for his property and continually nagged him to put his farm in her name, 77-year-old bridegroom asks divorce."—News item.

Breathes there the man who never said . . . "I was a friend to him when he . . . Was out of work or sick abed . . . And look how he has treated me" . . . But people are not perfect yet . . . Nor will they be when this world ends . . . Therefore, we might as well forget . . . The imperfections of our friends.

Friendship's a game that two must play . . . It's not a solitary game . . . But when a man is old and gray . . . He shouldn't play it with a dame . . . She may play like an amateur . . . Or even worse, when they begin . . . For that's the way the women lure . . . An old man on and take him in.

It's called "Platonic love," I think . . . (Whoever Plato might have been) . . . But it provides the missing link . . . Between the women and the men . . . And soon the link becomes a chain . . . And on the chain there is a ball . . . And if the man does not restrain . . . Himself, the woman wins it all.

So, as we said when we began . . . (And we shall now repeat the same) . . . It's better for an older man . . . To play the solitary game.

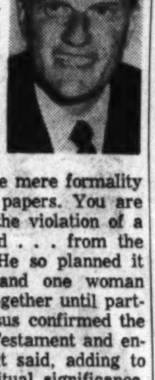
God Meant Marriages To Endure

QUESTION: A few years ago I married a divorced man. I took his four children and cared for them until they were grown. Recently my husband died, and now I find that the children are going frequently to see the first wife, and I even fear they care more for her than for me. Is it right that they should just dump me after all I have done for them? — D. E. S.

ANSWER: Of course the children should show gratitude to you for the kindness you have shown to them. But do not forget, they did not divorce their mother. It was only their father who left their mother and married you.



The marriage ties are stronger than most people care to admit. They are not broken by the mere formality of signing legal papers. You are now paying for the violation of a command of God . . . from the beginning . . . He so planned it that one man and one woman should remain together until parted by death. Jesus confirmed the law of the Old Testament and enforced all that it said, adding to it a deeply spiritual significance. (Matt 19:1-10).

Though you may have enjoyed your years of marriage to this man, you do doubt caused another woman much grief. All there is left for you now is the comfort you can have from God, who stands ready and able to pardon and restore us to fellowship with Himself. Be content with even a small amount of attention from the children of your husband's first wife.

County Manager E. A. Fuller said a check of fire protection petitions signed by residents of the area thus far show that 1,350 of the 4,303 owners of improved property in the proposed fire district have agreed to the tax.

This is 845 short of the number required to account for 51 per cent of the owners of improved property, Fuller explained.

LIST CHECKED

Fire protection petitions have been checked against a list of property owners taken from county tax digests. The list included property owners as of Jan. 1.

Fuller said that civic leaders in the area and members of the volunteer fire department now serving the area are "trying to contact" some of the 2,953 property owners who have not signed petitions in order to get the necessary 51 per cent.

Levying of the tax is necessary to provide revenue to replace the volunteer unit with a paid unit to be supplied under contract with the City of Atlanta.

AGREED TO CONTINUE

Members of the volunteer unit, most of whom are businessmen, had previously said they could not continue to man the station after March 1. County officials said, however, the volunteer firemen agreed to continue working until paid service can be provided.

Residents of the area recently voted at a town hall meeting to accept the special tax rather than consider annexation to Atlanta.

Ex-Official In Coweta Is Indicted

NEWNAN (AP) — The Coweta County Grand Jury Tuesday returned three indictments charging former county school superintendent J. Wilkins Smith with embezzlement, forgery and stealing.

Smith has been under fire for several years. His teaching license was revoked in 1955. Officials charged he improperly obtained a five-year certificate which gave him a higher salary.

The grand jury Tuesday charged he received $50 Oct. 8, 1956, for the sale of a 1944 school bus and embezzled the money.

He was named in a second indictment on three counts of forgery. The grand jury charged Smith signed the name JoJhn Reed, a school bus driver, to gasoline tickets with intent to defraud the county Board of Education.

The third indictment listed eight counts of stealing official records of the board.

Smith, who resigned last fall from the superintendent's job, said he has no comment at the present time on the indictments.

Sol. Gen. Wright Lipford explained Smith was allowed $125 per month travel expenses as superintendent and was not authorized to sign gasoline tickets.

The records he is charged with stealing were the original gasoline tickets supposed to be a part of the board's permanent records.

Cadillac

A Wonderful Story... Told in Silence!

There are many ways, certainly, to describe the quality of the great Cadillac car.

But we think no one tells the story quite as well—or quite as convincingly—as the car itself.

And how does a Cadillac put it? Well, next time you are in the "car of cars"—just listen!

Listen, for instance, to its absolute freedom from vibration. Here, it says, is the kind of craftsmanship that can only come from years of devotion to the very highest quality ideals.

Then listen to its extraordinary freedom from wind noise. Here, it says, is true perfection in styling—as scientifically sound as it is majestically beautiful.

Or listen to the incredible quiet of that great engine. Here, it says, is truly masterful engineering—with every phase of the car's performance working in perfect harmony.

And listen to the marvelous manner in which it closes out the sound of a city's traffic. Here, it says, you will find perfect serenity and security throughout even the longest of journeys—a wonderful personal sanctuary in a busy world.

Yes, just listen—and we think you'll agree the Cadillac story is never more eloquent than when told by the "voice" of its own silence.

In fact, we earnestly suggest that you visit your authorized Cadillac dealer very soon—and spend an hour or so in the driver's seat.

You will find that your dealer is long practiced in the art of satisfying a motorist's personal needs and requirements—and he will make you his welcome guest at any time.

9 Children Drown as School Bus Plunges Into Pond Near Tifton

specifically determined by late Tuesday afternoon, said H. B. Allen, county school superintendent. Allen said a preliminary mechanical check of the bus indicated no malfunctions.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

The bus driver was quoted by the school superintendent as saying he "did not know definitely" what caused him to lose control of the bus.

The Georgia State Patrol at Tifton reported Jones estimated he was traveling approximately 30 miles an hour down a slight grade when the front wheels struck bumps and threw him out of control.

No charges were made against the driver, who has been driving school buses 23 years. School Supt. Allen defended Jones as a "good" driver of "long service."

HIT SOMETHING

"He hit something in the road," said School Supt. Allen. "It's just a tragic thing."

Allen said Jones told him the number of children aboard was "possibly 60." Allen said his office would begin a survey Wednesday morning to determine the exact number of students aboard the bus.

In Atlanta, State School Supt. Claude Purcell dispatched a field representative to Tifton to investigate the bus tragedy.

TOOK DAILY COUNT

Jones said that if all children on his 56½-mile route had been aboard, the number would have been 105 whenever the bus reached its destination at Tifton.

The driver said he took a daily count of the passengers after the bus arrived at the Wilson Elementary and High School and at the Tift County Industrial High School in Tifton. He said he has never kept a count of the students as they boarded the bus.

Supt. Allen said Jones' bus averages carrying 60 students daily, the number of riders varying during this school year from as low as 19 a day to 93 a day.

CAPACITY IS 48

The bus involved in the tragedy had a seating capacity of 48 children. There are 16 seats, each of which seats three children. That bus, however, was an "extra" bus not normally driven by Jones.

Jones' regular bus has a seating capacity of 54 students, Supt. Allen said.

The maximum seating capacity "recommended" for Georgia school buses by the State Department of Education would be 65 for Jones' regular bus, 58 for the bus which plunged into the pond.

COUNTIES DECIDE

The State Department of Education "recommends" to counties that the number of children standing be limited to 20 per cent of the bus manufacturer's rated seating capacity, and that no child stand more than two miles.

But a spokesman for the pupil transportation service division of the education department said in Atlanta that there is no law or regulation imposing any load limit. He said the policy of the education department is to leave the final say-so on bus load limits up to the county boards of education.

The Tift County school superintendent said Jones turned his regular bus into the county school bus maintenance shop for repairs Monday and checked out the "extra" bus to drive Tuesday.

The bus was "routinely" checked for safety before it left the maintenance shop Monday, Supt. Allen said he was told by W. J. Flowers, shop foreman.

Supt. Allen said it was possible the bus accident could have been caused by overcrowding.

"We have no way of knowing positively whether this particular bus was overcrowded Tuesday since we don't know how many students were on it," Supt. Allen said.

The superintendent said, however, he knew of previous instances when Jones' bus was crowded beyond the seating capacity recommended by the State Department of Education.

"Many of our buses are crowded to overcapacity," Allen said, "because we are lacking funds to adequately operate the type of bus system we would like to."

Farmer Jack Withers, driving his car past the toppled bus seconds after the accident, ran to a nearby farmhouse and telephoned for ambulances and medical help.

Soon three doctors, a number of nurses, and a score or more of state patrolmen, policemen and firemen from Tifton, Tift County, Nashville and adjoining Berrien County, and Red Cross workers were on the scene aiding in the rescue.

Plane Wreckage Examined For Clues to Crash Killing 5

LUDOWICI (AP)—Authorities examined the tangled wreckage of a light plane Tuesday in an effort to learn why it plunged into a wooded swamp, killing four adults and a small girl.

Maj. Lewis Scott, commander of the Savannah Civil Air Patrol squadron, said the single-engine chartered Cessna 175 apparently went down at a steep angle. It was demolished by the impact but did not burn.

The plane was en route from Mobile, Ala., to Savannah and crashed around midnight Saturday about five miles north of Ludowici.

The wreckage was partially hidden by trees but was finally spotted Monday during a widespread search by military and CAP planes.

The dead were identified as a 34-year-old Savannah attorney, Howard Jarrott III; his cousin, George Jarrott, 31; George's 5-year-old daughter, Cynthia; James W. Wasden, 23, the pilot, and Cecil W. Parker Jr., 24, a student pilot, both of Mobile.

The girl's parents were separated and were reported on the point of court action to determine who should have custody of her.

ATLAS LAUNCHER SPEAKS

Can Man Space Stations In 3 Years, Expert Says

By JACK KAPLAN

Manned space stations orbiting about Earth can be a reality in three to four years, B. G. MacNabb, operations manager for Convair's flight test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., said here Tuesday night.

MacNabb, who spoke to the Georgia Tech chapter of the American Rocket Society, said, "I know it sounds fantastic, but it will be done . . . soon!"

A member of the team that launched the United States' biggest satellite in December 1958, MacNabb has worked on the Atlas project almost since its conception in 1946.

WOULD TAKE 3 ATLASES

"The final space station would actually take three Atlases to complete," he explained.

"The first would merely put the empty tank into space. The second and third would have to orbit in the same area as the first. They would carry cargo for outfitting the empty tank as a station and men to operate it."

MacNabb said the United States is in no hurry to win the "space race."

"I don't think we really care who gets there first," he said.

RACE TO 'BEST'

"Columbus discovered America and his Spanish colonized it, but we don't see any Spanish control today. It's not who gets there first, but who makes it with the best and most practical equipment."

During a question and answer period, the rocket expert was asked about the feasibility of a discussed Venus or Mars shoot this spring.

"If we decide to fire an Atlas at Venus or Mars in the spring, then you may rest assured that the brass and the scientists feel there is a good chance to hit our target. We don't throw away Atlases," He said.

'ONLY 8 CHANCES'

MacNabb pointed out that chances to get close to the two planets will come between now and 1971 because their orbits are closest to earth in that period.

"There will only be eight chances in 12 years to hit Venus and six chances to hit Mars."

Research and devlopment in the missile program has its lighter moments.

OXYGEN SLOSHED

"The liquid oxygen sloshed around and threw the missile off-course. Designers needed some kind of quick dampener in a hurry and they came up with one. When that Jupiter took off, she had hundreds of beer-cans floating on the fuel . . . and it worked."

"The cans were too heavy for subsequent flights," he continued, "and the scientists came up with a series of ridges to stop the sloshing, but if it hadn't worked, another scheme was ready . . . ping-pong balls."

"Given enough time and money," MacNabb concluded, "our scientists can whip any problem."

Took Trips For State, Jessup Says

Rep. Ben Jessup of Bleckley said Tuesday he had been on other state business when he obtained tax-exempt airline tickets through the Commerce department.

Tickets purchased for state business are not subject to a 10 per cent federal excise tax.

Commerce department director Abit Massey revealed Monday that he had refused to authorize a flight to California for Jessup.

Jessup received four such authorizations when Scott Candler was department director and refunded the price to the department, Massey said.

Contacted by telephone, Jessup said the California trip and the four others were on legislative business and thus also tax exempt. He said obtaining the tickets through the Commerce department was a "convenience."

"I've got more sense than to try to use such tickets for personal business," he declared.

Bus Pane Smashed; Mother, Baby Sprayed

A Negro woman and her 14-month-old baby girl late Tuesday were sprayed with glass from a broken trolley window, police said.

Detectives J. J. Morris said a student at the Inman Park School, aged 14, was turned over to Fulton County Juvenile Authorities on charges of breaking the window.

Morris said Mrs. Betty Kelley, 20, of 2626 Browns Mill Rd., and the child, Trellis Kelley, were not injured.

Mrs. Kelley was seated on the next to the last seat of the trolley, holding the child in her lap, Morris related. He said six youths got off the trolley at Hollywood road and Bankhead highway and as they walked past one smashed a window with his fist.

(Names of accused persons under 17 years of age are withheld in accordance with the Georgia Juvenile Court Law.)

'I Musici' Are a 2-Hour Delight

By RICHARD E. GRAY

I Musici (The Musicians) lived up to their name in all keys Tuesday night—pouring forth an exciting two hours of music for an overflow crowd in the Atlanta Woman's Club Auditorium.

The virtuoso chamber orchestra from Rome, Italy, performed on the Atlanta Music Club membership series. It was a very wise choice.

It no longer is true that Atlanta audiences have no taste for chamber music. The enthusiastic crowd pelted the visitors with applause after each number, demanding many bows and one encore, "First Divertimento" by Mozart.

The 12 musicians all are high-caliber performers. Together, they are astounding. Playing without a conductor, they merge individual tone, technique and conception into a rich musical melange — "togetherness" at its best.

They began with a sonata by Albinoni, followed by a concerto by Bonporti (both early Italian composers), featuring violinist Roberto Michelucci.

Maria Teresa Garatti sparkled at the piano in Haydn's Concerto in G Major for Piano and Strings. Concertmaster Felix Ayo was brilliant in a Vivaldi concerto, and he joined Vincenzo Altobelli in a warm reading of a Vivaldi violin-cello concerto.

I Musici drew a deserved tribute from violin-cello duo Berl and Shirley Senofsky, who rushed out to hear the Italian artists shortly after arriving in the city for their own performances later in the week.

SCIENTISTS WITH PIONEER IV SATELLITE

January by the Soviet Union, which sent a much heavier payload—some 795 pounds—to 4,660 miles from the moon and then into orbit around the sun.

Starting last August, the Air Force tried three times and the Army once to shoot a rocket to the moon, only to have the rocket misfire or to have the payload come tumbling back to earth.

President Eisenhower, who was informed of the launching early Tuesday morning, sent his "warm congratulations" to the space administration and Army team for their "splendid achievement."

The Army team cited by the President came from the Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala. It was headed by Dr. Kurt Debus, chief of the arsenal's missile firing laboratory.

There were no calculations of the satellite's position released after the 5 p.m. figures. However, space administration scientists estimated that at 7 a.m. Wednesday Pioneer IV will be traveling at 4,800 miles per hour and will be 188,931 miles from the earth.

ERRORS ARE SLIGHT

Because of slight errors in aiming and velocity, the cone-shaped, 20-inch-long capsule will not pass quite as close to the moon as had been planned. The original hope had been that the payload would come within 15,000 to 20,000 miles of the moon, but tracking information, fed into an electronic computer at Pasadena, Calif., showed the vehicle would miss the moon by about 38,000 miles.

The four-stage Jnuo II launching rocket, built around the Army's Jupiter ballistic missile, left the launching pad at almost precisely the second determined to intercept the moving target of the moon. The rocket, however, fell some 95 miles per hour short of the planned velocity of 24,985 miles per hour.

BELOW TRAJECTORY

The rocket also pointed itself at least one degree—and perhaps as much as two degrees—below the calculated trajectory.

As it climbed into space, Pioneer IV was gradually being slowed down by the tug of the earth's gravity. By 5 p.m. Tuesday, for instance, the vehicle was thaveling at a speed of 5,498 miles per hour and had reached an altitude of 118,852 miles above the earth's surface. Because of the wider-than-planned miss of the moon, Pioneer IV is not expected to carry out some of its contemplated experiments.

For example, a pistol-shaped photoelectric sensor on the bottom of the vehicle was not expected to be triggered by reflected light from the moon. The sensor device, designed to test a trigger mechanism for future picture-taking space experiments, had to pass within 20,000 miles of the moon to work as planned.

Defends Horse's Coffee Break

ROME (UPI) — Silvio Bianchi has appealed a six-month jail sentence he received because he loved his horse and his horse loved coffee.

Bianchi was sentenced for insulting the law. He gave a traffic policeman a piece of his mind when the policeman challenged his right to leave his horse and cart in a no-parking zone.

His argument was to no avail. He said he had stopped outside a coffee shop because he needed a cup of black coffee and his horse needed one, too.

Macmillan Flies Home; Talks Fail

Finds No Accord With Khrushchev

Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki which has been rejected by Washington and Bonn.

Khrushchev and Macmillan reported they were "unable to agree about the juridical and political aspects of problems involved" in the Berlin crisis.

"At the same time they recognize that it was of great importance for the maintenance and consolidation of peace and security in Europe and throughout the world that these problems should be urgently settled," the communique said.

Macmillan declined at a news conference before his departure by jet plane to go "into specific details of confidential talks" with Khrushchev. But he confirmed the Central Europe pullback plan would be the subject of negotiations.

FIRST DUTY

"Our first duty is to consult our French, German, and American friends," he said.

The problem of Central Europe must be urgently settled. In these lines there is hope for progress."

He ended the news conference because Khrushchev was waiting and rushed off with his host to Vnukovo Airport. There, in his white fur hat, and bearing a bouquet, he wished Khrushchev "all the best" in Russian as he stepped into the plane.

CRUCIAL DAYS

Thus ended 10 crucial days in the fast-developing Berlin crisis during which Macmillan had:

—Failed to budge Khrushchev's determination to give East Germany control of the Allied lifelines to Berlin by May 27.

—Drew agreement for a foreign ministers' conference on the subject before the deadline.

—Warned Khrushchev in "firm" terms that the West will not surrender its rights in Berlin.

—Made a series of whistle stop speeches and a live TV address in which he told the Russian people the British have the highest European standard of living.

CULTURAL AGREEMENT

—Reaced a cultural agreement with the Soviets, particularly in the TV and movie fields, and arranged trade talks.

—Rejected the Russian proposal for an Anglo-Soviet pact of nonaggression because it might have prejudiced U.S. bases in Britain.

—Offered Khrushchev some "interesting" but still secret proposals for a nuclear test suspension pact.

"The real value of these discussions," Macmillan told newsmen, "has been better understanding."

Khrushchev agreed.

Oxford Calls For Facts on Liquor Fund

new head of alcohol tax unit, and Roy E. Kelly, long-time federal alcohol enforcement officer who is now chief enforcement officer for the state.

Asked whether he thought the new regulations will eliminate the criminal element, Oxford said he would "be better able to answer that question after I get these (applications) in."

The commissioner asserted that "the whisky people are paying about three per cent of the revenue and causing about 50 per cent of the trouble" for the department.

Oxford also announced that henceforth liquor dealers would not be allowed to make cash payments to the department.

ing each building, it doesn't have anything to store in them.

"I have no idea why they were bought," Collier said, "except to put heavy equipment and machines in.

"And we don't have any heavy equipment and machines."

Since the department can't afford to put up the buildings and since they aren't needed anyway, the state apparently is "stuck" with several thousand dollars worth of rusting steel, he added.

Judge Blames Officials' Example For 'Low Moral Atmosphere' Here commissioners to finance the probe is exhausted.

"Some good has already come from this probe, but it appears that there is much more yet to be done. The public rightfully demands that adequate funds be provided to finance this investigation to full and complete conclusion."

The judge warned, however, that the investigation should never be hampered by "partisan political overtones," but should be operated on a solid judicial basis.

Concerning Atlanta's high crime rate, Judge Shaw said this:

"In my opinion, one reason for the present alarming crime increase in our community is because of the low moral atmosphere prevailing here. Crime thrives and grows in a low moral climate.

"With high state officials, along with certain local police officers, flagrantly violating their oaths of office, it is only reasonable to say that such conduct has a direct bearing on the thinking of weak persons who are already inclined to believe that crime does pay.

"If those in positions of high public trust can allegedly steal and get by with immunity, it will begin to look to many people that crime does pay."

The judge told the grand jurors it is their duty to "help reveal the truth that crimes does not pay" and that offenders will be punished. He said churches, schools and civic organizations play a vital role in changing the moral tone of the community.

Judge Shaw also commended the work of the Atlanta Crime Commission in delving into causes behind the city's crime rate.

Keep Youth From Being Wasted On You, Counsels Pat Boone

rub me the wrong way was to hear an adult say to a younger person, "Act your age." I still think the way many persons use the phrase is insulting. Yet it's really very good advice.

Youth is wonderful. But we can spoil it or waste it easily. What's the hurry? What's the big rush? You'll never be 11, or 12, or 13, or any other teen year but once. Each day you can figure, "I have not passed this way before . . . and I will not pass this way again." Today is unique. Don't let its wonderful moments go by unnoticed—and unused.

I can tell you for sure that you will grow ahead fast enough. The time will come when you can drive a car. When you can date unchaperoned. Marry. Earn a living. When you can wear spike heeled shoes or a dinner jacket. But if you think now that you are only going to be happy when those times come, you will never be happy. Because then you will have the "tomorrow" habit.

HE HAD THE HABIT

One of the boys I've known a long time was "going to be happy" when he could drive a car. That day came, but by then he was "going to be happy" when he could buy one. So he bought one. Then he was "going to be happy" when he could buy one of the super-super cars. And he actually got one. But by then I'm sure the habit had a strong hold on him. He was "going to be happy" when a certain girl married him. He even got the girl. Then it was a certain job, then security, then when his family was grown. I don't think he'll ever make it.

We won't go into whether it makes us a little ridiculous to be running around attempting to appear to be something we are not, because we should not make these changes based on what others will think of us. There would be no lasting value there.

My very good friend, Bobby Morrow, the track star, says one of the reasons he won three gold medals at the Olympics is that he has never jumped the gun. Jumping the gun has penalties. Both you and I have seen some of the penalties paid by teen-agers who insist on living ahead of their physical or emotional or mental age and growth. At the worst, cars piled up. Girls' lives ruined. Boys in juvenile court. At the least, unbalanced lives, a lot of extra problems and discomfort.

You know, I think a lot of our worries and anxieties are rooted right here in this time goof, the inability to live today. And guilt, too—guilt if we haven't done today what today brought to us to do. You ask some depressed old fellow, "What are you thinking of?" He says sadly, "My future." You say, "What makes your future so hopeless?" He replies, "My past!"

Yet, like us, all that he has is today.

To guard against needless worry and anxiety, to overcome restlessness, impatience, and frustration, to be happy now and not waste a moment of our wonderful youth, I thing we should all have written somewhere, on a locket, or in our minds, or on a sign in our room: Jam Today.

What does it really mean to "grow up"?

Did you ever think it meant a kind of a Cloud 9 existence where you could run your own show in your own way? Well, remember the wisdom offered by a father whose son wanted to know: "When will I be old enough to do as I please"? And the old man replied: "I don't know. Nobody ever lived that long."

TO MATURITY

Our physical growth—height, hands, feet (especialy feet!)—is miraculously taken care of whether we cooperate or not. But the growth we have to concern ourselves with is strictly the do-it-yourself kind. To be really grown-up is to arrive at maturity.

I think we have today potentially the brighest, nicest, most advanced teen-agers ever. Such an authority as Heman G. Stark, director of the State of California Youth Authority, agrees with this. Says Mr. Stark: "On the basis of my 30 years' experience, I'd say . . . the teen-agers of today are stronger, smarter, more self-sufficient, and more constructive than any other generation of teen-agers in history."

The big question is, is he talking about a group? Or about you? You can ask, "Who, us"? Or, "Who, me"?

Your individual growth toward maturity is what you personally are doing to fulfill your all-round potential. The dictionary describes maturity, as "a state or quality of full development."

Then a mature person will be the one who has made the most of himself in all departments. A mature teen-ager will be the one who is least distorted by those four teen-age symptoms of insecurity, restlessness, inconsistency and indecision we mentioned, and can live comfortably and harmoniously with himself and the world.

Isn't that a more attractive goal than "doing as I please"? The joke is that maturity doesn't seem to be a question of how old you are. I've known a few people of 50 in fully grown bodies who haven't even made a start. And very young teen-agers who are well on their way.

I'll discuss later a check list I've used to help myself. Five of the points on the list coincide with a similar one used by Gale Storm. She and her husband devote every New Year's Eve to measuring their progress and charting their goals in these major areas: Spiritual, Social, Mental, Physical, Financial. I added one more—Work. And since, during the teen-age, change is so rapid, I tried to check on it once a month.

This will be strictly a do-it-yourself program. So you might as well be honest from the start. It's what you think your potential is. You set the goals because you have to do the work. Your aims wouldn't be my aims, or even your parents' aims for you. You're different from anyone else in the world. God never made two hairs on anyone's head alike, or two talents, or two personalities, or two faces. Your potential is God-given. Unique! Wonderful!

Archaeologists to Dig In Chattahoochee Basin

Archaeologists are going to explore and excavate areas in the lower valley of the Chattahoochee River before they are inundated by dam-created reservoirs.

The Smithsonian Institution in Washington says five thousand years of buried history are represented in this section.

Largest of the areas to be inundated will be the Walter F. George basin. Preliminary studies by the River Basin surveys revealed 177 sites in Georgia and 90 on the Alabama side of the Chattahoochee and they are to be explored more thoroughly—the most worthwhile with extensive excavations—before the Army engineers complete their construction of the Walter F. George dam.

The sites range from simple Indian villages to areas containing remains of several different cultures and from single mounds in which Indians buried their dead to multiple groups of mounds surrounding ceremonial plazas.

There also are two historic sites. One is the Spanish fort at Appalachicola, dating from 1689 to 1691 and the other the historic Creek Indian town of Roanoke, which was occupied by white settlers and then attacked and burned by Indians in 1736.

Debbie Turns Down Eddie's Plea For Quickie Divorce in Nevada

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Debbie Reynolds said Tuesday that Eddie Fisher has asked her consent to a Nevada divorce—presumably so he can marry Elizabeth Taylor.

She said she refused—to save their children from embarrassment. But she said she doesn't know whether her consent is necessary.

"I feel it would be embarrassing to my children to one day find out their father had two wives at the same time," said Miss Reynolds.

The actress has blamed Eddie's attentions to Miss Taylor for the breakup of the Fisher-Reynolds marriage.

Debbie, who obtained an interlocutory decree here Feb. 19, said, "I've already given him a divorce. That's what he wanted. It's his life and his business. I haven't given my consent to a Nevada divorce because I don't believe in it."

Miss Reynolds' California decree will take a year to become final. Nevada divorces can be obtained in six weeks.

4 Are Killed In Carolina Plane Crash

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A small plane which became lost in a fog crashed in an isolated area near here Tuesday, killing four persons, two of them prominent textile executives.

They were identified by Dr. M. E. Black, Davidson County coroner, as Ben E. Rudisill, 42, president and treasurer of the Carlton Yard Mills at Cherryville, N.C.; his wife, Dorothy, 37; Jack Hillman Scott, 35, general sales manager of the three Carlton Mills, and Mrs. F. D. Quinn Jr., wife of the general manager of the Dora Yard Mill at Cherryville.

CRASHES INTO FARM

The plane, a four-place Ryan Navion, crashed shortly after 4 p.m. on the Clay Palmer farm about 15 miles southeast of here. The scene was so remote that officers had to use a farm tractor and trailer to reach the area.

Wreckage was strewn over a wide area of pasture and woodland.

A witness said the plane "fluttered around in the air" and then exploded.

BUSINESS USE

Rudisill was the owner of the plane, which he flew on business trips from a small landing strip located near the Carlton Mill. He and Scott had commercial pilot licenses, but it was not determined who was at the controls at the time of the crash.

The quartet left Cherryville early Tuesday and flew to Chapel Hill, where the two women left to attend a conference at the University of North Carolina. Rudisill and Scott returned for them later in the day.

Hawaii Bill Okayed by Senate Unit

Floor Action Seen Before March 26

By C. P. TRUSSELL

(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON — Statehood for the Territory of Hawaii was approved unanimously Tuesday by the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

Handlers of the enabling legislation, supported strongly by the administration, predicted floor action might be taken before the Easter recess begins March 26. This depended, though, on the status of other major bills which the leadership wants passed before the holiday.

LARGE MARGINS SEEN

It appeared that, if floor right of way was given, the legislation would be passed by both houses by large margins. In the Senate the program has the co-sponsorship of more than a majority of the membership. In the House it is predicted the program might be accepted by a vote of three or four to one.

The only foreseeable application of brakes seemed to rest with the House Rules Committee and the Senate's general program. The House Rules Committee, which serves generally as traffic director of floor actions, resumed hearings on the House statehood bill Tuesday.

FOLLOWS PATTERN

This second hearing, following the pattern of the first held last Thursday, found key members expressing "concern" and ridicule over the prospective admittance of Hawaii.

Led by Rep. Howard W. Smith, (D-Va) and chairman of the panel, they held that admittance of Alaska Jan. 3 brought in a state that might not be able to carry the full responsibilities of statehood. They stressed the financial phase, cited instances in which territories were given federal assistance that they would lose when put on their own.

They charged that admittance of Hawaii would expand U.S. states into Asia and give Communist propaganda a footing in accusing the U.S. of practicing colonial imperialism.

Charges that communism had large influence in Hawaii, and that the islands' lands were in the hands of a comparatively few corporations persisted.

Capital a Second Harlem, Rep. Davis Says in House

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga) said Tuesday population figures for the District of Columbia prove "Washington is turning into a second Harlem."

Davis told the House that statistics released Tuesday confirm this statement he made 2½ years ago when he headed an investigation critical of desegregation in Washington schools.

The latest statistics list the Capital's residents at 53 per cent Negro and 47 per cent white. At the time of Davis' inquiry 74.1 per cent of the students were Negro and 25.9 white. The Negro percentage is probably greater now, Davis said.

"This calls for some kind of congratulations to be extended to somebody," the Georgia Democrat said.

Castro To Visit U.S. on April 17

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Fidel Castro, prime minister of Cuba, will visit the United States April 17.

George W. Healy Jr., president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said Tuesday night he had received a definite acceptance from Castro of the society's invitation to speak at its annual meeting in Washington, D.C.

U.S. Maps Driver Trap For License Violators

By RICHARD E. MOONEY

(Copyright, 1959, The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—The federal government has a plan to catch the driver who loses his license in one state but continues to drive on another state's license.

In a report to Congress, the Commerce department's Bureau of Public Roads proposes establishment of a national clearing house in a federal agency that would list the names of all drivers whose licenses had been suspended or revoked.

The federal government's role would stop at the information stage. It would be up to the states to make use of it.

The report was submitted last weekend at the conclusion of a highway safety study ordered by Congress in 1956. It included some statistics on safe driving speeds that may surprise the nation's back-seat drivers.

The report said that most states will not issue a license to a person who is known to have had his privileges suspended or revoked in another state. The current means for finding out, it said, are "cumbersome and relatively ineffective" — in other words, each state must check with the 48 other states.

Few bother, and some that bother do not get the information they seek. As a result, most states are issuing licenses to the de-licensed.

ONE MILLION REVOKED

The report estimated that there are one million licenses currently in suspension or revoked, or more than 1 per cent of all drivers. It estimated that there are approximately 82,000,000 drivers.

The clearing house plan was not detailed, but it is understood that the clearing agency in mind was the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which already does this type of work.

The report said that new electronic data processing equipment makes such an operation "practicable at relatively low cost."

A related but independent bill was introduced last week by Rep. Rhodes (R-Ariz). It would set fines and prison terms for anyone who drives "in interstate or foreign commerce" without a valid license, and would set up the clearing house machinery in the Commerce department.

The Rhodes proposal, like the public roads proposal, would leave it to the states to ask for information and to apply it as they choose.

SEES CHALLENGE

The public roads report said that the federal government has "a challenge that cannot be overlooked" in the field of highway safety. It acknowledged, however, that direct federal authority would be impractical and would weaken state and local authority. The federal activities it proposed were largely those of making studies, giving advice and supporting educational programs.

Troopers Calm South Carolina Mill Strikers

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Scores of calm, efficient state troopers stationed themselves outside the struck Henderson-Harriet cotton mills Tuesday and put a damper on major violence in this strike-ridden city.

While nonstrikers entered and left the two plants under hostile glares during the day, union and management representatives met again with government mediators in an effort to settle the 16-weeks strike.

Opening lead: Four of ♦.

At crucial stages in the play of a hand, similar to the one which developed today, it is imperative for declarer to take time for the inquiry, "What adverse holding do I fear?" Such a procedure might have brought this declarer to the realization in time, that the trump suit must be handled with delicacy.

Although North and South did not have any surplus high-card strength, their hands fit very well and they were able to find this out as the bidding developed. After North freely supported spades South elected to show his diamond control since he could do so economically, below the game level. When his partner now rebid clubs, South decided that the hands meshed perfectly and he contracted for slam. However, his choice of suits was not the wisest, for six clubs would have been a virtual laydown.

Against six spades, the opening lead was the four of diamonds and declarer ruffed. Everything was solid but the trumps. Declarer entered the dummy with a club and led the queen of spades for the finesse. The king won and a diamond return shortened the declarer down to two trumps, while East held three, and the contract was doomed.

Proper play at trick two is the ace of spades and this is not a case of hindsight. If the spades are divided 3-2, the position of the king of spades is immaterial. The opponents will be conceded one spade trick and the rest is simply mopping up. If the spades are divided 4-1, there will be no way to make the hand unless the king of spades happens to be alone. The reason is that when the next lead is surrendered, another diamond play by the defense will bring declarer's trumps almost down to the vanishing point.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

By Dr. Sarah Jordan

Associates Help Guard Our Health

The high-pressured businessman may have a devoted wife who watches over his health in an unobtrusive way. With this gentle surveillance he is often held to a healthful program almost without being conscious of it. The busy executive of either sex often has a secretary who keeps an eagle eye out for the boss' health, or there is a colleague or partner who has an unselfish or selfish interest in it.

Signs of health troubles are often seen earlier in the temperament of a person. A naturally outgoing, affable person may suddenly become gloomy, secretive or irritable; usually he is unaware of this change and that a physical derangement is causing it.

If there is no obvious cause for worry, a good look at the physical state of our friend is in order. Does he look thinner or paler than normal? Is he eating less? Does he seem apathetic, whereas once he was full of eagerness to solve any problem?

Loss of appetite and weight, together with pallor, are signs which should always be like red flags of danger. The person in question should be lured or led to an examining doctor as quickly as possible, and if being just "run down" is found to be the cause, the cure is easy. A good vacation to begin with and a new pattern of the workday are the best possible prescriptions.

Fatigue in a person who is normally full of energy is a symptom often too easily explained on a flimsy basis. I well remember an elderly man whose only complaint was fatigue which prevented him from bicycling or skiing—yes, he was elderly and he still went skiing! He thought it was not just age; it must be something unusual, and though there were no other symptoms suggesting stomach trouble an X-ray of his stomach, as part of his routine examination, showed an early cancer of the stomach.

This was an unusual case and please, all of you tired people, don't get the idea that you have a cancer of the stomach. I just related that anecdote to show you that a symptom like very unusual fatigue needs to be explained.

These self-appointed guardians of the health of some of our busiest people often detect these unusual symptoms, thus proving themselves blessings in disguise, and if supervision can be done without fretting it can indeed be beneficient.

AUNT HET

I knew what would happen. I declare to Goodness, if a man left only a forty-foot lot in a swamp, I believe the relatives would fight over it.

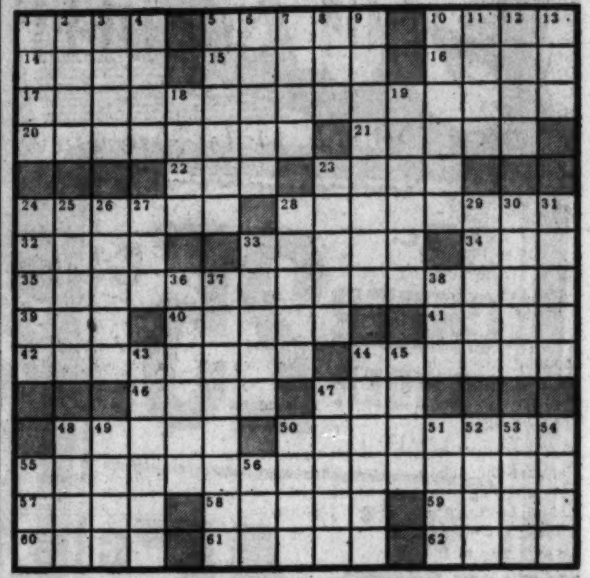
Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle



Your Stars Today

The greatest difficulties lie where we are not looking for them.—Goethe.

Daily Guide—There is still need to slow down, to follow routine and put duty first, but in the evening a lighter note can help in romantic and friendly social activities. Seek entertainment to overcome the somber note of the last two days. Relaxation can help with that tired feeling.

The Taureans and Virgoans can derive benefit by relying on old ties or contact with other people during these spring months.

Tomorrow things should move along smoother, and Friday and Saturday are excellent for shopping, social affairs, and a happier frame of mind, especially for Arians, Leos and Sagittarians.

Happy Birthday, Pisces! There will be a tendency for you to seek outward expression more and more this year. Your eforts may be crowned with unusual success at the very end of the year.

You will need to guard against over-confidence then, as a very expansive program in your career or business could prove costly. Old friends and ties could prove the best now, but care should be taken in the latter part of April not to antagonize a friend or loved one.

By FRANK WELLS

March 14 Is Kite Day In Atlanta—Go Fly One!

The picture showed a mother helping her son get a kite started up off the ground. But what a kite! It looked like a plastic parachute, and probably would fly rings around the ones we used to make.

But as well as I can remember the act of making a kite was about as much fun as flying it. We used a frame of weed stalks, tall dog fennel, I believe, because weed stalks were light. There were three sticks to the kite, making the finished product a lopsided hexagon.

Then we bound the juncture of the sticks and ran cord around the outside edges. Then came the covering—newspaper if no strong wrapping paper could be found. We made a paste of plain flour and water (self-rising wasn't as strong, we believed). Then we tore up an old sheet for a tail, and the kite was ready to fly.

GOT 'EM UP A MILE OR MORE

I had an aunt who did social service work at a cotton mill, and she could get these enormous spools of strong cotton cord. We'd get a kite up a mile or more, sometimes.

March is kite time in America. Not so in China, one of the real kite-flying countries. The ninth day of the ninth month is, or maybe, was, since the not-so-frivolous Reds have taken over, a national holiday, and all the men and boys take the day off to fly kites.

Kite flying is serious business to orientals and has been since time immemorial. In European tradition, the kite was invented by Archytas of Tarentum four centuries before the Christian era, so it is an ancient sport if ever there was one.

KITES USED BY WEATHERMEN

Sport isn't the only use found for kites, however. The story of Ben Franklin and the kite, proving electricity and lightning were one and the same, is known to everyone. Ben went flying his kite in 1752. The kite was used in weather observation for years, until the airplane and the balloon took over most of its functions.

It was some weathermen back in 1910 who flew kites to make us all feel like amateurs. At Mt. Weather, Va., they flew a train of 10 kites up, the uppermost reaching an altitude of four and a half miles. The flour and water paste wouldn't have held up in winds of that altitude!

Incidentally, official kite day in Atlanta is March 14, when the annual kite-flying contest will be held at Piedmont Park.

Go fly a kite!

Slum Study In Decatur Approved

Applying to U.S. For $22,000 Aid

By ALAN GILLON

The Decatur City Commission voted Tuesday night to prepare an application for a $22,000 federal grant to finance a study of a $2,000,000 Urban Renewal project proposed for the city's Beacon Hill section.

Commissioner L. W. Morris cast a negative vote on the project, stating after the meeting that he was opposed to the expenditure of public funds for projects of the nature of Urban Renewal.

Prior to voting the commission heard a UR administration representative, Stewart M. Woodward, explain the nature of the proposed project. Tentatively, the plan calls for a 10-year program of neighborhood renewal by stages.

OBLIGATED FOR 10 PER CENT

The city would be initially only obligated to carry to completion renewal of 10 per cent of the 100-acre blight area, and then only if they had funds and found the project economically feasible, Woodward said.

If the city undertakes the $2,000,000 program, it will be paid for by a bond issue, City Manager John H. Markland told the commissioners. Woodward explained that the $22,000 loan from the government would be included in the initial cost estimate for the project if undertaken, and therefore, two-thirds would be paid by the federal government and one-third by the city. The loan is not repayable if the city elects not to renew the area after the study is completed.

The city will provide one-third of the total cost of the project. The city's part of the cost may be offset by improvements such as schools, parks and roads or costs of removing, changing and installing utilities.

AGREEMENT NECESSARY

In order to proceed with the project after the study the city has to agree to relocate residents in safe, decent and sanitary housing, which may be outside of the renewal area, or the city.

The commission also:

Heard a report from the Sinking Fund Commission Chairman C. Payne McMurray, who said the fund included sufficient money to pay the interest on all city bonds —about $1,860,000 worth—for one year.

Voted to authorize the mayor, city manager and city clerk to burn $83,000 worth of city bonds retired in 1958.

Fixed Tuesday, March 10, at 7 p.m. as the time for a public tax protest meeting in the commission chamber.

Fund Drive For Hospital Gets Rolling

The capital fund drive for Atlanta's new Holy Family Hospital was launched this week.

The hospital will be erected on Harwell Road in West Atlanta and operated by the Medical Mission Sisters. The Sisters own and operate 24 hospitals throughout the world. Executive committee members Hughes Spalding Sr. and Joseph Seitz, pointing out the need of the hospital, said:

"We are quite certain that the already apparent shortage of private hospital beds in the rapidly growing Atlanta community, will become serious within the next few years. By the time the Holy Family Hospital is erected and in operation, it will be badly needed."

Both men praised the sisters for offering their skills and experience in establishing the westside hospital.

Mother M. Benedict, provincial superior of the Medical Mission Sisters in the United States, said, "We want the Holy Family Hospital to be the embodiment of all that modern medical and architectural science and God-like charity can provide."

Co-sponsors of the affair are members of the Atlanta Tulip Study Club and the Atlanta Parks and Recreation Department. The tulips, imported from A. Frylink and Sons in Sassemheim, have been planted as to color harmony by George Simons, general manager of the parks department, and Mrs. J. J. Nicholson of the Tulip Study Club.

An electrically operated windmill, to be erected amid the tulips in the park, will achieve a touch of Holland.

Attending Miss Farrell as Queen will be Miss Diane Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Love, as maid of honor.

MEMBERS OF COURT

Members of the court will be the Misses Janette Lane, Gayle Dean, Peggy Wilkerson, Susan Lundeen, Tere Haas, Betty Love and Kathy Tierney. Lew Ellyn Finch will be the herald and John W. Lundeen Jr. will be the crown bearer. Bonnie Villegas and William Lundeen Jr. will be the train bearers.

Mayor Hartsfield will serve as burgomaster for the festival, and appropriate music will be presented by choral groups from various schools in the city.

Over 400 children wearing Dutch costumes and selected from 11 schools and 27 recreation centers will present dance numbers. There also will be 200 adults from recreation centers and from the Georgia Federation of Square Dancers on the program.

RECREATION DIRECTOR

Miss Virginia Carmichael is director of recreation and the festival director. Representing the city parks department is Mrs. Charles P. Greene. Serving as general chairman is Mrs. J. Wen Lundeen of the Tulip Study Club.

Climaxing the festival will be the distribution of 3,000 pairs of miniature ceramic Dutch shoes designed by Mrs. Gladys Phillips, craft supervisor for the parks and recreation department, and made by the adult groups.

Hollywood Designer Dresses You Like a Movie Queen

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER
Constitution Fashion Editor

Ever dream of dressing like a movie queen?

Sure you have. Why, there have been movies you sat through without ever getting the plot because you were so smitten with the clothes. And the reaction has always been the same—"Golly, if you could only buy that evening gown or if someone would just dress me like that, I could be a star, too!"

Well, California has just welcomed a distinguished new couturier into its ranks and, having dressed the stars, she understands the value of dressing women for their role on the "stage" of life today.

She is Helen Rose, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio designer, and she will produce a versatile collection to please many types of women: tiny or tall, tailored or feminine. Mrs. Rose's debut as a manufacturing designer brings a new interpretation to fashion as she promises to bring to her "cast" of customers the same kind of thinking and the same insistence on quality which carried her to the peak in her profession.

She has more than 175 motion pictures to her designing credit, has costumed the Ice Follies for 14 years, and has won two Academy Awards. Among the stars who have been dressed by this designer are: June Allyson, Joan Collins, Ann Sheridan, Joan Blondell, Grace Kelly, Celeste Holm, Deborah Kerr, Lauren Bacall and Dana Wynter.

175 PICTURES

Mrs. Rose began her studio career with 20th-Century-Fox and later signed a long-term contract with MGM in 1942. Among the motion pictures for which she designed costumes are "Designing Woman," "High Society," "I'll Cry Tomorrow," "The Tender Trap," "The Opposite Sex," "Gaby," and "Executive Suite." She willl maintain her activities with MGM concurrent with her manufacturing operation.

Her collection will include daytime clothes with relaxed and simple lines and cocktail and evening fashions. The line has not been widely distributed as yet and it is expected to be confined to some 75 stores across the country. However, some of her evening gowns have arrived at a local specialty shop and they are indicative of her spirit in designing.

EVENING GOWNS

One is a warp silk taffeta in cocktail length trailed by a floor-sweeping train. The large rose print is accented with a huge fake rose at the decolletage back. The train may be worn turned up about the shoulders as a matching dress length coat. Her mastery of draping is evidenced in the painstaking flow demonstrated in the bodice and skirt.

Chiffon, worked with the simplicity of a nightie, shows Helen Rose's light touch. Over a slip of taffeta sprinkled with pearls and rhinestones at the top, layers of chiffon shade from pale green to light blue for a delightful ball gown. Thin strings of chiffon fashion tiny bows at the high waist.

Harry Rose, husband of the vivacious designer, will aid in the business management of the new operation. Some of Mrs. Rose's gowns are as near museum pieces as the wedding gown she designed for the Princess Grace of Monaco.

For shopping information, call JA. 2-5050, Ext. 394, or send a self-addressed post card to the Women's Department, The Atlanta Constitution.

'Don't Make Mistakes We Did,' Mother From Little Rock Urges Atlantans

By HARRIETTE WEINSTEIN

"Do anything, ANYTHING to keep public schools open," a spokesman for the Little Rock Women's Emergency Committee urged Atlanta.

Mrs. Gordon Wilson, an attractive mother of three, arrived in Atlanta from Little Rock to address the meeting sponsored by Hope, Inc., at the Tower Theater Wednesday at 8 p.m.

"Atlanta has an advantage over our situation. Hope, Inc., was foresighted and planned before. I feel if we'd been that well organized when all of this started," Mrs. Wilson said, "we'd be that much further along than we are now in getting something accomplished.

"But," she added brightly, "the paper this morning had our first hopeful news," picking up a copy of the Arkansas Gazette.

Two items constituted this hopeful news. One was the announcement of the poll of Chamber of Commerce businessmen, with 77 per cent favoring "limited integration rather than closed schools."

HOPEFUL NEWS

"We had felt that the men would speak out from their organizations and so formed our women's committee. But this is the first such group to come out with a stand on the problem."

The other item dealt with the bill allowing Gov. Faubus to control the Little Rock school board. It was stopped in the Senate.

"I understand that the purpose of this bill was to allow the board not to sign teacher contracts if the federal government opened the schools. Then, although the schools would be open, we would have no teachers."

One of the biggest problems the Little Rock women's group has faced has been a general apathy among the people presently unaffected by the school situation.

NINTH GRADE

"But we've gotten parents of ninth graders to realize that they will be faced with this same problem next fall. And if teachers do not sign new contracts next month, with the school situation as it is now, all students will be affected, even those in elementary schools still in operation."

Businesses polled by the Little Rock branch of the American Association of University Women all reported a loss in business—except moving companies.

Mrs. Wilson speaks from painful experience on the subject of public education.

"I have a tenth grade daughter who is now taking correspondence courses from the University," said Mrs. Wilson. "We didn't try to enroll her in the county school as we thought the federal government would soon have the schools opened again."

Now her daughter and many other students taking correspondence courses meet at the church with a teacher, paid by the parents, for four hours a day.

"Since all of the work is written, they then spend most of the afternoon and evening doing homework. The situation has really impressed upon the students the real value of an education. They are so afraid they will be behind if they have to transfer to another school next year."

"I'm here as much to GET ideas as to warn Atlanta against what we did or didn't do that was unsuccessful," she said.

She cited the committee's purpose briefly as, "We're for public education. We don't even ask our members if they are for segregation or integration."

However, in all the furor the school situation has aroused, at least one possible trouble has been averted.

"We are all surprised, even the juvenile court authorities, but there has been no increase in juvenile delinquency with all of these children out of school," said Mrs. Wilson.

Sometimes I'm Afraid I Just Naturally Like Ne'er-Do-Wells

Sometimes the jacket of a book is a big help in telling you what to think about something you're reading. And I certainly am glad I read the inside rear flap on "Pioneer, Go Home!" before I got the idea that I just naturally like ne'er-do-well people.

"It's possible that some readers may see woven into this comedy the theme of Little Man versus Big Government," says the publisher. "They may also find it a study of the classic pioneering spirit and of its chances of survival in America today."

Frankly, I hadn't thought of either of those themes for "Pioneer, Go Home!" I was having too good a time reading it. But I felt guilty to spend an evening reading for pure pleasure when there are at least two dozen other things I should be doing. And now I feel better. After all, if you look at it as Little Man versus Big Government or the survival of the pioneering spirit in America today . . . well, those are serious matters and you should look into them, shouldn't you?

"Pioneer, Go Home!" is a new book (Charles Scribner's Sons Publishers—Richard Powell, author) and I took it home and put it on the table by my bed without a thought of reading it for maybe weeks to come. But late one night I finished my current murder and found I was too scared to sleep so I picked up this merry volume about the Kwimpers of Cranberry County, New Jersey.

The Kwimpers—Pop, his son, Toby, some orphaned twins they had acquired, and a baby sitter named Holly Jones—are seasoned old reliefers who got stranded on a trip south one winter and more or less inadvertently found themselves to be landowners enmeshed in the unfamiliar toils of Free Enterprise.

They ran out of gas on a new road which Pop took because the sign said, "Positively Closed to the Public" and he didn't want to be classed with the public. They found themselves too far from civilization for Toby to walk for gas without demonstrating that he was not "totally disabled," as the Army thought, and before they knew it they had set up housekeeping on a bit of unclaimed land. The way they manage to hold this land is hilarious, for of course, the Director of Public Improvements finds them and orders them to get along. And Pop, a proud expert on "relief and Compensation and Aid to Dependent Children and Total Disability," gets riled and decides to dig in.

As Toby explains, "The way Pop handles anybody from relief or Compensation or Aid to Dependent Children who gives him trouble is to rattle off regulations at them, and if he don't know of none he makes them up as he goes along. Pop says the government has so many regulations that nobody knows all of them, and if you throw in a few extra the government don't know the difference."

Once when Toby suggests that they might have to work, Pop observes serenely, "I never seen such a boy for looking on the black side of things." And then the county welfare director, Miss Claypool, arrives at the behest of the Public Improvements Department, which has decided to hit the Kwimpers where they live. Only Miss Claypool ecstatically calls the Kwimpers "the answer to a social scientist's prayer" and keeps them around for depth interviews, tests with Rorschach ink blots, Szondi pictures, and associational tests. Pop is a rewarding subject because he tells her about the "funny way of talking" that was used by his grandparents—"Wouldst care to sup with us," instead of "set down and have a bite"—and she becomes so interested in Toby that Holly Jones, the baby sitter, is forced to teach him about women.

Holly's lesson in kissing happens to come when Toby is fishing for snook. ("When a girl is hanging onto you on one side and a snook is hanging onto you on the other, you have to have your hands full and are going to lose one or the other of them," Toby observes. "So it was a real job of getting loose of Holly but I done it and finally went to work on that snook.")

I laughed aloud when Miss Claypool started studying one of the twins' dreams and Toby's earnest, friendly handling of gangsters was so funny I didn't stop to think the book may have a serious theme. But I sure am glad I read that jacket and found it does because I haven't any time to waste enjoying myself.

Parties To Honor Mr., Mrs. Aldrich

Important visitors expected next week are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Aldrich of New York and Ridgefield, Conn., who arrive on Wednesday to be guests for the rest of the week at the Biltmore. Purpose of their visit is to be present for the opening on Thursday of an exhibit of their paintings and sculptures at the Atlanta Art Association.

The day of their arrival, the Aldriches will be central figures at a supper party at which Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Wien will entertain at their home on N. Stratford road. Thirty guests have been invited. Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Wien are cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross have issued invitations for a reception on Friday, March 13, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich. Their guests will call at their Wickersham drive home between 7 and 9 o'clock to meet the visitors. Another party set for Friday is that at which Mrs. Anne Couper will entertain a dozen guests for luncheon at the Driving Club for Mrs. Aldrich.

Before the Aldriches leave on Saturday, Mrs. Granger Hansell, president of the Art Association, and Mr. Hansell will be hosts in their honor at a luncheon to be held at their home, Mimosa Hall, in Roswell.

AS SOON AS CLASSES are dismissed for the Easter holidays at Mary Baldwin, Susan Pegram will leave for a few days' visit with her roommate, Anne Ellen Lloyd of Washington, D.C.

Susan will arrive home on Saturday, March 28, for a week's stay with her parents, the Robert Pegrams, on Arden road. On her return to Virginia on April 5, she will be accompanied by her parents. The trio will drive to Staunton, and en route home Mr. and Mrs. Pegram will stop at Lexington, Va., for a visit to their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lyle, and the Lyles' small son, Jack.

JOHN DAVIS WILLINGHAM left yesterday for New York, and on Friday Mrs. Willingham will fly up to join him for a week of shopping and theater-going.

MRS. DOUGLAS STEVENS has leased her beach home at Sea Island and has arrived to spend the next two months at the Colonial Terrace Hotel.

MUCH SENTIMENT SURROUNDS the skating party at which Dorothy Mason, daughter of the William Masons, and Sally Crumley, daughter of the Robert Crumleys, will entertain on Thursday, March 12, at the Rollerdrome.

The girls have been planning the party since their sisters, Nellie Dean Mason and Jody Crumley, entertained at a similar party when they were the same age. Further sentiment lies in the fact that their mothers, who are the best of friends, often entertain together, and ditto for their grandmothers, who are next-door neighbors.

Sally, who is in the third grade at Westminster, and Dorothy, a second grader at Morris Brandon, have invited friends from the second and third grades to their party.

BEFORE MR. AND MRS. ROGER W. JACKLING returned to Washington yesterday after a visit to British Consul Granville Ramage and Mrs. Ramage on Peachtree road, Mrs. Ramage entertained at luncheon at the Capital City Club for Mrs. Jackling. Mr. Jackling is head of chancery and counsellor at the British Embassy in Washington.

MRS. WILLIAM MOORE arrived yesterday from Saratoga Springs, N.Y., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vretman, on Peachtree road.

MR. AND MRS. ELLIS GODSHALL and the latter's aunt, Mrs. J. G. Dodson, left Monday for New York where they are guests at the Barclay until Saturday.

STAFF SGT. O. B. CHAFFEE, USAF, and Mrs. Chaffee have arrived from Harlingen, Tex., for a month's visit to the latter's mother, Mrs. W. B. Willingham on Westminster drive, before leaving for Sgt. Chaffee's new assignment in Bermuda. They are being entertained at a series of informal parties during their visit.

On March 17, Mrs. Willingham and Mrs. Chaffee will drive the latter's husband to Charleston, from where he will fly to Bermuda. As soon as he has found living quarters on the island, Mrs. Chaffee will join him there. Sgt. Chaffee is with the Air Weather Service of the U.S. Air Force.

SEAFOOD DISHES THAT WILL KEEP WITHIN LENTEN THEME
The Menu Can Still Have Glamour If Dishes Are Excitingly Seasoned

Brighten Up Lenten Meals With Seafood Variations

About this time of the Lenten season many a homemaker feels like joining Mr. Pobble, the nursery rhyme character, in the impatient protest "Fish fiddle de-dee!"

But there are ingenious variations of seafood dishes that will keep within the Lenten theme and be so unusual and delectable that they will net the hostess plenty of unfished-for compliments.

One of these is herbed lobster thermidor in which rock lobster tails are seasoned with poultry seasoning, powdered dry mustard, black pepper and other spices and topped with grated Parmesan cheese. Very de luxe, but not difficult to prepare. Simpler, but savorily delicious are herbed crab meat supreme and herbed scalloped fish pudding.

In each, poultry seasoning is the distinctive flavor highlight. Surprised? — because you have associated poultry seasoning mainly with poultry and meat stuffings? Actually, its piquant blend of flavors is as flattering to fish as to fowl, or to meat.

Poultry seasoning is composed of just the right amount of sage, that leaf so unique in its potency and zest; gentle but distinctive marjoram; aromatic savory; tangy thyme, and sometimes rosemary, subtle but freshly intriguing, as well as other spices.

Poultry seasoning is as easy to use as it is delightfully effective because it has been measured and mixed in exactly the right proportions by master flavorists.

Add a variety of recipes flavor-verved with poultry seasoning to your culinary bag of tricks and you need never serve a listless meal, during Lent or at any other season.

HERBED LOBSTER THERMIDOR

6 frozen rock lobster tails about 5 ozs. each, or 3⅔ cups cooked lobster meat
3 tblsps. butter or margarine
2 tblsps. flour
1 cup milk or light cream
½ tsp. poultry seasoning
¼ tsp. powdered dry mustard
⅛ tsp. ground black pepper
½ tsp. paprika
1 tsp. salt
1 tblsp. instant minced onion
2 tblsps. cooking sherry
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Paprika for garnish

Cook lobster tails according to directions on package. Remove meat and cut into large chunks. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk or cream and cook, stirring constantly, until medium thick. Add seasonings, instant minced onions, cooking sherry and lobster meat (save a few large chunks for top casserole). Refill lobster shells or turn into 6 individual buttered baking dishes or a 1-quart casserole. Place reserved lobster meat over top. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Place under broiler to brown, about 3 minutes, or brown in a preheated hot oven (450 degrees). Garnish with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

HERBED SCALLOPED FISH PUDDING

1¼ lbs. thin fish fillets, cut into strips 1 inch wide
3 medium potatoes, peeled and thinly sliced
1⅓ cups thinly sliced onions
1½ tsps. salt
¼ tsp. ground black pepper
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
3 eggs
1½ cups hot milk
1½ tblsps. butter or margarine, melted

In a well-buttered 2-quart baking dish place alternate layers of fish, potatoes and onions, sprinkling each layer with a mixture of salt, ground black pepper and poultry seasoning. Beat eggs and milk together with a rotary beater. Pour over fish. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes. Uncover and continue baking until custard is set. Brush top with melted butter or margarine and place under broiler with oven regulator set at 400 degrees until top is brown. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

HERBED CRAB MEAT SUPREME

2 tblsps. butter or margarine
1 tblsp. cracker meal
¾ cup milk
1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
1 egg, beaten
1 tblsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. ground black pepper
½ tsp. poultry seasoning
½ tsp. powdered dry mustard
2 cans (6½ ozs. each) crab meat

Melt butter or margarine. Blend in cracker meal. Stir in milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in baking powder, egg, lemon juice and seasonings. Flake crab meat, remove any bones and place in a buttered 1-quart casserole. Pour sauce over crab meat. Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 minutes. Pop under broiler for about 5 minutes to brown top. Makes 4 servings.

BRITISHER GIVES ORIENTAL ARRANGEMENT TIPS TO ATLANTANS

Mrs. F. G. C. Robinson, Center, Shows Mrs. Perry Mullen at Japanese Exhibit

Know What a Western Is? It's a Flower Arrangement

By YOLANDE GWIN

A "western" according to a great majority of Atlanta women is not limited to the wagon trains, sheriffs, Indians, frontier towns and the traditional school marm who has just arrived from Boston.

It is an Americanized interpretation of an Oriental flower arrangement, and mostly of the various Japanese schools.

Men and women from the land of the rising sun have for centuries been the masters of this art and their teachings are considered tops in artistic and cultural circles. Within the past few years there has been a marked interest in the art.

Yesterday at Rich's the second in a series of Japanese flower-arranging techniques was held with Atlanta experts in Eastern floral customs taking part.

MECHANICS OF ARRANGING

During the day, the mechanics of Japanese flower arranging were given by Mrs. Floyd Isom, Mrs. W. K. Fawcett and Mrs. Wailes Thomas. There were many completed arrangements on exhibit. As representatives of some 22 garden clubs were snipping branches and trying to get the "earth, man and heaven" requisites in the right order, who should arrive from right behind the bamboo curtain but Mrs. F. G. C. Robinson, wife of the British vice consul here. The Robinsons were in the Orient before they arrived here just a few months ago.

"Why that arrangement there is just beautiful," said the pretty blond Mrs. Robinson as she spied Mrs. Perry Mullen working on her entry placed next to hers. "Here let me tell you where to put the violets."

Mrs. Robinson, who exhibited as a member of the Kobe Club of Kobe, Japan, learned her Japanese tricks at the Yen Sen School in Osaka.

Mrs. Robinson's arrangement, which she made in record time was called "Spring." She used lavender tulips and stock, and baby's breath. It was placed in a Kubaria holder with needles and driftwood. The base was a large ebony slab encircled in black sand.

As she finished her arrangement, she stepped over to Mrs. Mullen who was using wood violets, slipper orchids (she said they came from South America) and hydrangea branches.

AS THEY GROW

"One thing everyone should remember about an Oriental arrangement is that flowers are placed just as they grow," said Mrs. Robinson as people started gathering around. "Now see, these violets are put at the low level just as they grow."

Mrs. Mullen used her flowers in an unusual elevated bamboo base which her son, Perry Mullin Jr., brought home from Japan. The container was a sunabachi and a small bamboo screen, also brought by her son, added an additional and authentic Oriental touch.

Throughout the auditorium where the demonstration was held, viewers saw many weird, fantastic as well as pretty arrangements. They were made of glads, iris, orchids, camellias, jonquils, moss, pussy willow, chrysanthemums, driftwood and a lot of naked limbs.

One which looked like something out of the Arabian Nights instead of the land of kimonos was done by Mrs. A. T. Baumgartner of the Covenant Garden Club. Inspired by the O'Hara School it was a modern Nageire design. A large ceramic urn on a marble base held chrysanthemums and driftwood.

And there was another one which didn't have any flowers at all. It was made by Mrs. William Fawcett of the Peachtree Heights Garden Club. It was of the Shofu-Ryn School and was the standing Nageire type. It was a small table topped with a spittoon painted black and holding a piece of blond driftwood. That's all.

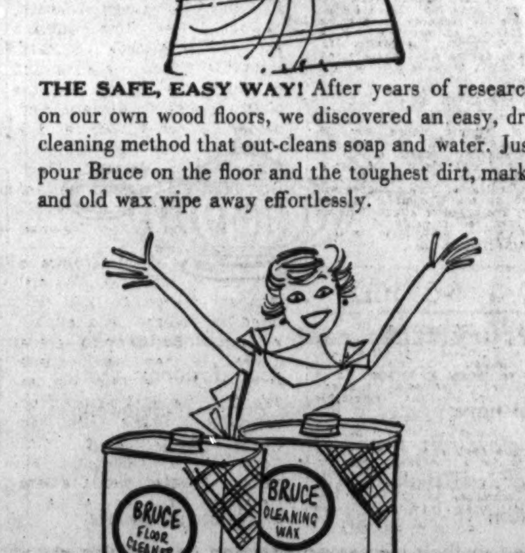
NEVER USE WATER ON WOOD! A damp glass ruins wood table tops. Water can do the same thing to your wood floors. And even the hardest scrubbing with soap and water can't remove most stubborn dirt, black marks and old wax.

THE SAFE, EASY WAY! After years of research on our own wood floors, we discovered an easy, dry cleaning method that out-cleans soap and water. Just pour Bruce on the floor and the toughest dirt, marks and old wax wipe away effortlessly.

WAXES TOO! As you wipe away the dirt, a new, clean coat of wax wipes on the floor. Just a light polishing brings a rich, mellow glow. Your floors are cleaner, brighter than ever before. Yet you're all through in just half the usual time.



TWO KINDS! We have developed two such products for home use. BRUCE CLEANING WAX for heavy duty waxing and BRUCE FLOOR CLEANER for areas where less wax is desired. Both give the same wonderful clean-as-you-wax results on linoleum, too.

Free floor care booklet! Gives helpful tips on the care of wood, cork, linoleum, vinyl, asphalt tile, rubber tile, terrazzo and ceramic floors. Answers such special problems as how to refinish floors . . . how to remove old wax . . . what to do about spots, marks, stains . . . care of wood panelling, etc. Write to E. L. Bruce Co., Memphis, Tenn., for your free copy.

The Water Cat

If the Polynesians and Tamils surveyed the showy field in Mr. Martin Kelly's indoor regatta at Hartsfield Harbor, they probably wouldn't be hep to The Cat.

But the glittering gold-dusted catamaran on display is, so the boat folks say, a direct descendent of the runabouts used by the Tamils in the East Indies and the Polynesians in the Pacific.

Outlar

In case you are also a landlubber, Mr. Webster says a catamaran is "any vessel with twin hulls side by side, whether propelled by oars, sails, steam; one of a class of pleasure boats." Mr. Kelly says the catamaran is the debutante of the 1959 Southeast Boat and Vacation Show which will be afloat at the City Auditorium through Friday.

More than 20 firms are producing The Cat in various sizes and colors, using, of course, the twin-hull principle introduced ages ago. And it's indeed encouraging to hear that we are now rowing abreast of the natives in the boat biz.

Advent of light multicylinder outboards, so they say, is responsible for The Cat craze. In other words, The Cat is now able to shoulder the load.

It's a long paddle forward in safety precaution, because even the most riotious party won't rock the boat, and The Cat promotes smooth and swift sailing in rough waters. Mr. Walter Kiekhaefer of ——— Motors (Oops, Mr. Fields, I almost used the trade name) was the first of the motormen to recognize the bright future of The Cat.

—You're Right at Home on the Lake

In the past year The Cat has won more ribbons than Mr. Adolph Rupp's prize cattle. For example, only a dozen of 28 boats finished the gruelling 1,608-mile Mississippi River Marathon last August. A half dozen of the finishers were Cats.

Rivaling The Cat for attention are house boats. It seems that everyone who can afford two homes in interested in moving to the water. The Madison avenue literature claims there's no other pleasure like it.

All the comforts of home are available afloat, not to mention the fact that you don't have to answer the phone or dodge bill collectors.

Unless you are in the upper income bracket, or intend to sell your house and move to the lake, the sign posted on one of the boats appears appropriate: "God Bless Our Mortgaged Home."

If you care for something in the lower surf district, the pontoon boats may be what you're shopping for. That's a fancy name for what we country folks call a raft, or barge.

Anyone who can float a loan can afford a pontoon patio. Unless it rains or the wind blows too hard, they're just the thing for summer fun. Hitch on a motor, and you've got a floating dock, patio, beer garden, or whatever you care to create. And Mr. Frank Carter says he has just the rod and reel to turn the pontoon into a fishing boat.

—Float a Loan and Float a Boat

If you like to go near the water, you'll enjoy Mr. Kelly's latest regatta. They have large boats, small boats, row boats and yachts. They even have boats in the aisles. In addition there is a show, the Kelly Follies of 1959.

Boating, the boat folks are fond of saying, is now the nation's No. 1 participant sport. An estimated 35,000,000 citizens shelled out $2 billion last year for assorted crafts.

There is proof positive that the boat business is booming. For, right there around Hartsfield Harbor, are representatives of various banks, ready, willing and able to lend money . . . provided you can prove you can pay it back.

Mr. Wing Short, the Walco man, vouches that business is bigger and better than ever. Mr. Short says that boats used to be a novelty. When the show was started several years ago, people merely looked at the boats. Now, they buy them, and they are buying more this year than ever before.

Since most folks don't have houses on their boats, one of the biggest hits of the show is a trailer. This is no ordinary trailer. It sleeps four, more if you put a pad on the floor. And you don't have to be an Eagle Scout to set up shop. The salesman turned the little trailer into a house in less than two minutes. All you do is unfold a canvas and twist a few gadgets here and there. The trailer, introduced by the Nimrod family, is in the economy price field.

So if you can't borrow enough money to buy a houseboat, just get a row boat and a trailer house. Mr. Kelly highly recommends every product in the harbor. All the boats are guaranteed to float. Does anyone know where I can float a loan?

Rebel Students Ask Graham's Dismissal

From Press Dispatches

Students at the University of Mississippi began a move there Tuesday night to bring about the dismissal of Rebel basketball Coach Bonnie L. (Country) Graham.

Country Graham

The resolution asking for Graham's ouster was introduced in the student senate, but failed to get sufficient votes to bring it on the floor for discussion. It was referred to a committee.

The resolution called on Ole Miss administrative officials to hire a new basketball coach.

Graham, now in his ninth season at the Rebel helm, had a team that compiled a 1-13 Southeastern Conference record this season, lowest in the circuit.

MORE BASKETBALL — North Carolina and North Carolina State, the two top teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, swept all first team positions on the All-ACC basketball team selected for the Associated Press by 36 conference area newsmen. . . . George Yardley, who was ready to quit the NBA before being traded from Detroit to Syracuse, has regained his scoring touch, including a 33-point performance against his former teammates 10 days ago.

All-America Bailey Howell of Mississippi State was the only unanimous choice on the coaches' All-SEC 10-man basketball squad which included Johnny Cox and Billy Ray Lickert of Kentucky, Gene Tormohlen and Dalen Showalter of Tennessee, Rex Frederick of Auburn, Jim Henry of Vanderbilt, Gary Stoll and Vic Klinker of Tulane and Buddy Blemker of Georgia Tech.

MISCELLANY—Pat Flaherty of Chicago, 1956 winner of the 500-mile auto race, and Bob Veith of Oakland, Calif., were named as teammates for the 43rd annual race May 30. . . . Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt defeated the Mexican pair of Antonio Palafox and Ricardo Gallardo, 6-4, 6-4, in a doubles match of the Altamira Club's fourth International Tennis Tournament at Caracas. . . . Pfc. Lawrence Damon of Burlington, Vt., who "learned to ski at home and shoot in the army," captured the North American Biathlon championship combining those two abilities. . . . Tokyo is anxiously waiting acceptance of its bid for the 1964 Olympic games, a Japanese athletic leader has reported to the president of the International Olympic Committee. Automobile racing leaders of the United States, Britain and Italy took steps to keep big car racing alive on an international basis and decided to stage three yearly races in the U.S. and three in Europe.

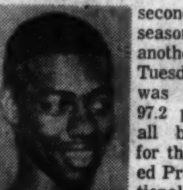
Big Oscar, Howell, West, Boozer, Hennon UPI Picks

NEW YORK (UPI) Oscar (Big O) Robertson of Cincinnati, the nation's leading scorer for the second straight season, smashed another record Tuesday when he was named on 97.2 per cent of all ballots cast for the 1959 United Press International All-America basketball team.



Oscar Robertson

Don Hennon

Bailey Howell

Bob Boozer

Jerry West

Robertson missed on only eight ballots out of 290 from sports writers and radio-TV broadcasters. Thus he broke the old record of 96.9 per cent set only last year by Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas.

Named to the "dream" five this season along with Robertson were Bailey Howell of Mississippi State, Bob Boozer of Kansas State, Jerry West of West Virginia, and little Don Hennon of Pittsburgh.

While Robertson romped home in the voting, with 279 first-place votes and three second-place ballots, Howell, Boozer and West made it comfortably and Hennon gained his first-five berth only after a nip-and-tuck ballot ballot battle with Johnny Cox of Kentucky. Hennon was named on 195 ballots (126 first and 69 seconds) and Cox on 194 (108 firsts and 86 seconds).

Cox wound up heading a second-team that also included Johnny Green of Michigan State, Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame, Leo Byrd of Marshall College, the nation's second highest scorer, and Al Seiden of St. John's.

The third team included Walt Torrence of UCLA, Bob Ferry of St. Louis, Doug Smart of Washington, Charlie Brown of Seattle, and Lou Pucillo of North Carolina State.

Howell, the six-foot seven-inch all-time career scoring champion of the Southeastern Conference, was the second highest vote-getter on the first team. His status as the most popular senior in the nation emphasized reports that he is likely to be the No. 1 choice in the annual player draft by the National Basketball Association.

The Mississippi State ace, whom many compare to pro star Bob Pettit, was mentioned by 81 per cent of the voters; Boozer polled 76.9 per cent; West 73.1 per cent; and Hennon 67.2 per cent.

MAROONS' RECRUITER PONDERS TECH OFFER

Ralph (Rabbit) Brown, Mississippi State's top football recruiter, said Tuesday night in Starkville that he probably will decide Wednesday whether or not to join the Georgia Tech coaching staff.

Brown said Tech head coach and athletic director Bobby Dodd interviewed him in Atlanta last week and "made me a fine offer. There are other benefits as well as salary involved."

Dodd was unavailable for comment Tuesday night but said on Feb. 23, "If Brown comes with us, I don't know exactly what he'll be doing. I expect we'll switch the staff around some and John Robert Bell (currently on the Tech staff) will probably be the B team coach."

Tech B team mentor Bob Cummings recently resigned to accept a coaching position at University of Kentucky, creating a vacancy on the Jacket staff.—ROBERTS

Sievers Signs For $35,000

Score, Garcia Pitch Well; Cottier Sparkles in Debut

From Press Dispatches

That's about $2,000 more than Sievers received last year, when club president Calvin Griffith described the 32-year-old slugger as the highest paid player in Washington annals.

In his five seasons with the Senators the outfielder-first baseman has averaged 32 home runs and 101 runs batted in. His team finished in the American League cellar in three of those seasons and never higher than sixth.

Citrus Circuit

TAGGING THE BASES — Herb Score and Mike Garcia pitched scoreless ball in opposing each other in Cleveland's first intrasquad game. Score disposed of 6 of 7 batters and hit Rocky Colavito with a pitched ball. Garcia allowed 2 singles. . . . Dick Tomanek, Jack Urban, Tom Gorman and ex-Little Rock ace Bob Davis pitched shutout ball as the Bob Swifts beat the Don Heffners, 3-0, in Kansas City's squad game. . . . Seven Cincinnati players broke their bats trying to get good wood on the pitches of rookie southpaw Jim O'Toole, up from Nashville. . . . Billy Hitchcock and Tom Henrich will manage opposing clubs in Detroit's only squad game Saturday.

Chico Carrasquel, one of Baltimore's three absentee Latins, reported to the club at Miami. Only Willy Miranda and Bobby Avila, only unsigned holdouts, have not reported. Like Carrasquel they played winter ball. . . . Duke Snider and rookie Frank Howard made the big bat noise in Dodger batting sessions at Vero Beach. Howard poled four balls over the left-field wall, and Snider belted 3 that would have been homers in Los Angeles Coliseum's revised dimensions. . . . Giant manager Bill Rigney was elated over two shutout innings hurled by Jack Sanford. Hobie Landrith singled home Danny O'Connell with the winning run in a 3-2 squad wrangle.

Jack Harshman, "best pitcher in the American League," according to Baltimore manager Paul Richards, pitched four hitless innings in a squad ruckus.

Passers Found For Patterns

By AL THOMY

Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS—Wallace Butts' pass patterns are probably as widely recognized as Christian Dior's drawings, flat or otherwise.

And like the fashions of Dior, patterns mean nothing unless fitted to proper models. Of these, Georgia's passmaster has been woefully lacking in recent seasons.

Past success is stamped indelibly in the professional present. Check the National Football League, and its Georgia graduates. Zeke Bratkowski throws bullets for the Chicago Bears; Jimmy Orr catches 'em for the Pittsburgh Steelers, and if he unretires, Johnny Carson will snag 'em for the Washington Redskins.

And Receivers Available, Too

Coaches aren't saying much about the air game, but an observer comes away with the impression it may develop into a potent Bulldog striking force in 1959, a supplement to power running of fullback Dave Lloyd, razzle dazzle of halfback Fred Brown, consistency of halfback Don Soberdash and versatility of quarterbacks Charley Britt, Francis Tarkenton and Tommy Lewis.

No one denies the air game

DOZEN BALLS A DAY IN VACATION-LAND

Crackers Pack Trunks for Spring Move South to Jacksonville

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Bud Holmes, who for the next six months will live out of a suitcase, packed his trunks Tuesday.

Holmes, new trainer for the Atlanta Crackers, paid his new Ponce de Leon Park home a two-day visit, got acquainted with his new bosses, packed up and departed for Florida, from whence he had come.

It wasn't that Bud was unhappy in his new home, or in a hurry. It was just that he and Cracker vice president Jasper Donaldson finished their chores of readying three trunks full of baseball equipment for shipping to Jacksonville, and Holmes figured he'd better be off for the Crackers' spring training site.

This job of packing all necessities for 37 ballplayers to spend 30 days under the Florida sun is not like putting little Jimmy's pajamas in an overnight bag for a weekend trip to grandma's house. But with the "know-how" of fellows like Donaldson and Holmes, it is accomplished with much less bother and fretting.

The three mig red trunks with "Atlanta Crackers" printed in white on the front contain 45 uniforms, 60 pairs of stockings, 30 belts, 40 bats—including two fungos and two lead bats—a bat bag, 14 batting helmets, 4 catchers' masks, 3 chest protectors, 3 pairs of shin guards, 42 caps, a right-handed first baseman's mitt, 3 jackets, all necessary medical equipment and 12 dozen baseballs.

The club will use about a dozen baseballs each day of training, so 25 dozen more are on order and will be shipped to Jacksonville.

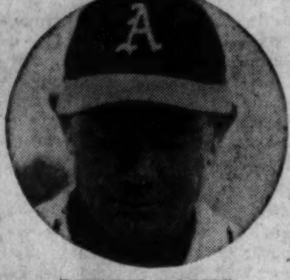
Holmes, who succeeds Jim Bernhardt, says he is eagerly looking forward to working with Manager Buddy Bates and the Crackers.

"I have been fortunate in working with nice people in my two years as a trainer in the Detroit organization, and everyone tells me I'll like it in Atlanta, which is regarded as one of the country's top baseball cities," says big, affable Holmes, an Oklahoma native now living in Winter Park, Fla.

"I trained the Lancaster Club in the Class A Eastern League last year, and I've never known a better fellow than our manager, Johnny Pesky. Johnny managed Birmingham in 1957, you'll remember, and played ball here with the Naval Air Station durinf World War II. He'll handle Knoxville in the Sally League this time."

Cracker president Earl Mann, who will fly to Jacksonville Saturday to confer with Bates before opening of spring drills Sunday at the Maple Avenue Park, received the signed contracts of three more Crackers Tuesday and now only eight, including veterans Poochie Hartsfield, Corky Valentine and Jack Baumer, are unsigned.



BUDDY BATES

Begins Drills Sunday

Among signees were the only two first basemen on the roster, Roger Morgan, who hit .338 at Midland, Tex., last season, and Bill Thompson, .277 for Jacksonville. The other was Donald Ganus, sauthpaw swinger who batted .310 at Yakima, Wash.

Third baseman Baumer, who came to the Crackers in a winter swap for veteran Sammy Meeks, has balked at contract terms and been given permission to make a deal for himself. Baumer hit only .236 and struck out 114 times for the Bears in 1958. But he lashed 22 home runs and batted in 88 runs.

Valentine, who now lives up Roswell-Alpharetta way, visited Mann before leaving for a short pre-spring training fishing trip in Florida. Round Corky is on the Cracker roster but slated to train with Louisville at pilot Ben Geraghty's request.

The Cracker slate of exhibition games now totals 24, a 3 p.m. Ponce de Leon Park battle with Ft. McPherson having been added for Thursday, April 9. Atlanta will open the Southern Assn. campaign here the next night (7:45) against Les Peden's Shreveport club.

Bates is expected to arrive in Jacksonville Friday or Saturday from Bradenton, where he has been helping Milwaukee manager Fred Haney. Donaldson will also drive down from Atlanta Saturday. Players are expected to start drifting in as early as Friday.

Valdes Fights Powell

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Nino Valdes of Cuba will meet Charley Powell of Los Angeles in a 10-round heavyweight bout headlining the Miami Beach Auditorium card Wednesday night, and there are two distinct views as to the importance of the fight.

The fight is expected to draw a crowd of 3,500. It will be televized nationally over the ABC network at 10 (EST).

To the fans it will be a contest between two huge men, each of whom packs a big punch. Bobby Gleason, manager of Valdes, as a minority of one considers it an affair in which Valdes will be defending his championship.

"Floyd Patterson is a commission-made champion," Gleason says emphatically. "How did Patterson get the title? In 1956 he defeated Jimmy Walls, Alvin Williams, Hurricane Jackson, and then was awarded the title by defeating Archie Moore.

"Since then he 'defended' his so-called title by beating Jackson again, Pete Rademacher and Roy Harris. You won't find Valdes' name on his record."

Regardless of the importance of the fight to Gleason, his man probably will be a 3-1 favorite over the big ex-pro football player.

Auburn Gives Air To Offense In Effort To 'Open Up' Game

Tigers Take 'Up' Where Left Off

By MICKEY LOGUE

That'll be opening day for Head Coach Ralph Jordan's Auburn Tigers, who will be trying to make it 25 straight games without a loss.

For parts of three seasons, a magnificent defense that became nearly impenetrable near the goal line had kept Auburn in high winning gear. Its offense almost always seemed to generate enough points to survive, but few extra ones.

Auburn's touchdown-getting mechanism began propelling its full share of the victory load at mid-season 1958 when lanky Richard Wood proved he could pitch in Southeastern Conference high society.

"Yes, we plan to start off with a more wide-open attack next season," backfield coach Buck Bradberry said Tuesday. "We won't be quite as conservative as in the past."

There are three big reasons for the Tigers' offensive renaissance—senior quarterback Wood, junior quarterback Bryant Harvard and sophomore quarterback Bobby Hunt.

"If Harvard regains the speed he had before breaking his leg, he should be able to put a great deal of pressure on defense with his rollout passes," Bradberry continued. "When a man is a real running threat like Harvard is, the defense is doubly concerned with the option play.

BRYANT HARVARD

An Auburn Airman

"Richard Wood established a reputation and record for being a wide-open type quarterback. He threw anytime, anywhere. The defenses couldn't dig in on him. Our second unit's running game became better than the regulars after Wood loosened 'em up.

"Hunt is a threat as a runner and passer. We wouldn't hesitate to use him under any game conditions. Judging from his spring training performance, Bobby is among the sophomores most likely to play a lot of varsity ball."

Harvard Speed Is Question

Ends Bobby Wasden, Leo Sexton, Bobby Foret and others form excellent targets for Jordan's aerial artists. Halfbacks Bobby Lauder, Jimmy Pettus and Lamar Rawson also are exceptionally elusive receivers.

Their midseason offensive surge helped the Tigers lead the SEC in total yardage gained. Auburn hopes to get an early offensive start this season — say around September 26.

PLAIN FACTS — Coaches rate right half Bo Davis and fullback Johnny McGeever, both ex-redshirts, most improved players of winter training. "Willingness to learn and natural speed" have keyed their progress. . . . Statesbore QB Coley Cassedy is classified among Auburn's hard-nosed athletes. . . . Trainer Kenny Howard says fullback Ed Dyas will miss Saturday's A-Day game with an ankle injury. . . . Blue starting duties go to either Bill Baggett or Jimmy Bonner, the East Point sophomore whom coaches say can be just as good as he wants to be. . . . Thursday brings "Tommy Lorine Night" to Bessemer, Ala.

Bowling Clinic

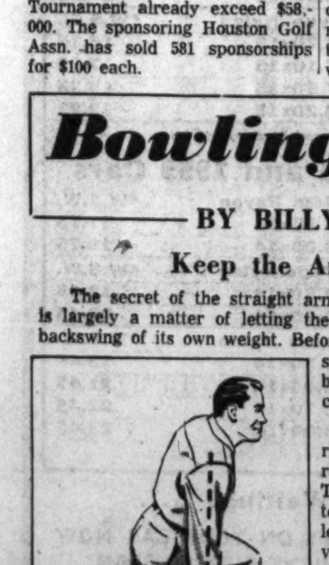
Keep the Arm Straight

The secret of the straight arm throughout the bowling swing is largely a matter of letting the ball drop from the top of the backswing of its own weight. Before this, the ball is pushed away so that it falls smoothly into the backswing in an arc grooved close to the body.



The arm remains straight, right through the point of ball release, as shown in the sketch. The bowler is there in a position to reach out in the finishing follow-through. His fingers will provide the ball's spin action without any help from the wrist.

At the lowest point of the downswing, control is either assured or ruined. The arm must be relaxed and must swing freely. The elbow must be straight at the bottom of the arc. Then there follows naturally the arm lift and follow-through that completes the controlled motion of the ball.

This straight, natural armswing in bowling is often compared to the swing of a pendulum.

If you're unsure of your swing, or unsure of your starting angle and approach, you'll find some worthwhile tips in my booklet, "The Keys To Better Bowling." For your copy, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Billy Sixty, in care of The Constitution.

Ludowici and Pineview Open Class B-C Tourney at Macon

Perry Team B Contender

By PAUL ATKINSON
Constitution Sports Writer

MACON — From Donalsonville to Toccoa Falls, they'll converge Wednesday on this middle Georgia basketball outpost to decide who's best in Georgia's Class C.

And at 1:20 p.m. Thursday, a whole passel of Georgia's best in Class B will also descend on stately Municipal Auditorium.

They'll go in eight games Wednesday and eight more Thursday. Both divisions will have semifinals Friday and finally successors to ousted Nahunta and McRae-Helena will be decided in Classes B and C Saturday night.

With a whole crew of new candidates for championships, the finger of championship suspicion points to Ludowici in Class C and Perry in Class B. Roopville and Heard County are other highly regarded contenders.

Ludowici, anchored by the 20-points-plus firing of forward Larry Chapman, described by Georgia Teachers College coach J. B. Scearce as one "who can do it all," opens with Pineview in a prime 6:40 p.m. spot. Roopville, headed by J. H. Horsley and John Smith, who averaged 26 and 21 points a game during a brilliant 28-2 campaign, goes after Harlem in a 5:20 game.

Tournament Timetable

CLASS C

WEDNESDAY: 12 noon—West Haralson-Midville; 1:20—Bryan County-Pitts; 2:40—Rabun Gap-Arlington; 4—Meriwether-Omega; 5:20—Harlem-Roopville; 6:40—Pineview-Ludowici; 8—Toccoa Falls-Richland; 9:20—Whigham-Crawford County.

CLASS B

THURSDAY: 12 noon—Rockdale County-Bradwell Institute; 4—Harris County-Seminole County; 6:40—Perry-Tucker; 9:20—Folkston-Heard County.

Eric Staples' Perry Panthers are 24-4 on the season, and are led by Staples' son, center Pierce, and assistant coach Frank Holland's offpsring, gritty little Frank Holland Jr., a 5-6 bundle of energy. They go after surprising Tucker, which refused to lose in 4-B firing until the very last against Rockdale County.

Heard County is coached by Eric Staples' brother, Don. So it could be brother against brother, should both win their openers. Heard County and Perry would collide in the semifinals Friday at 6:20 p.m.

There's another brother combination, but this is in Class C. R. R. Caswell's brother, R. L., coaches at West Haralson. As they are bracketed, however, their meeting—should it come to pass—would be in the finals.

Brothers Could Battle It Out

The Caswell brothers played three times this season, with R. R.'s West Haralson club winning twice. But neither was by a large score.

Those are the favorites. But in this pair of tournaments, you never know. Possibly Bryan County, Pitts, Arlington, Rabun Gap, Meriwether or Omega will come swooping in to win it all in Class C, or Bradwell Institute, Harris County, Seminole County or Folkston in Class B.

Haas and Larseigne Win Pro-Am at Metairie Club

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dave Ragan of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., turned in four-under-par 68s Wednesday to lead a field of 63 qualifiers for the $20,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Eight-eight top pros were exempt from qualifying for the four-day tourney which opens Thursday at the City Park.

Everett Vinzant of Springfield, Mo., and Joe Jiminez of Manhattan, Kans., tied for third with 69s. Milton Marusic of Webster Grove, Mo., and Mike Homa of Rye, N.Y., were next with 71s.

While the qualifying round was going on, some of the exempt pros took part in a Pro-Am tournament at the Meteirie Country Club. Fred Haas Jr., and Wilfred Larseigne, both New Orleans pros, took top honors with five-under-par 67s and each picked up checks for $225.

Amateur Nines Organize Loops For Summer

Managers interested in entering teams in Saturday or Sunday Leagues of the Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation this summer are asked to contact Fred Waits by telephoning JA. 2-8757 or calling at Reeder-McGaughey's.

Teams entered late may not get into leagues in which they should be, according to ability.

Pettit Nears NBA Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks needs only a 13-point average in his six remaining games to establish a National Basketball Assn. scoring record.

The Bayou Bombardier, who was drafted by the Hawks after winning All-America honors at LSU, is within 78 points of George Yardley's standard of 2,001. Yardley, now playing for Syracuse, set the mark at Detroit last season.

Pettit has amassed 1,924 points, an average of 29.2 points a game.

Penrose Fires 69

JUPITER, Fla. (AP)—Jack Penrose of Miami Beach, winner of the recent National Amateur mixed foursomes here, captured medal honors Tuesday in the South Florida Men's Invitational Amateur Championship with a 2-under-par 69 at Tequesta Country Club.

One stroke back was Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., and even with par 71 was Truman Connell of Tequesta.

Penrose had five birdies, two of them on one-foot putts and the longest at 15 feet in a round that included the lowest nine of the day—a 34 on the par-36 front side.

Bell Wins Medal

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan., took medal honors in the Florida East Coast Women's Amateur Golf Tournament Tuesday with 39-37—76.

Her one-over women's par score for the 5,776-yard Ponce de Leon course put her two strokes ahead of Mrs. Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, who shot 39-39—78.

SYLVAN CAPTURES RIFLE TITLE

The Sylvan Bears won their third consecutive city high school rifle championship Tuesday by defeating a slightly favored Fulton team, 900 to 897 on the Northside range.

The Bears, winners of the West Division title in the Atlanta 13-member high school league, were led by Obie L. Ward's 186 out of a possible 200. He was high in the same match last year, with 191. Warren Grigg's 184 was best for Fulton, East Division winner.

Maj. Horace E. Clary Jr., PMST for the Atlanta Public High Schools and match official, presented the trophy to Co-Captains John W. Sills Jr. and Obie Ward. Sgt. Robert Van Houten is the team's coach. Other members are James T. Rogers, Robert Ellis, Samuel D. McKinney, Gladstone J. Prater, Charles Garvin, Byron Norris, Thomas Willis Jr. and David J. Turner.

The highest five scores were counted. They were, in addition to Ward's 186, Willis, 182; McKinney, 180, and Sills and Norris, 176s.

Commander's Big Coon Finds, But Breaks When Birds Flush

Special to The Constitution

QUITMAN—None of the showings made by eight dogs running in a strong wind Tuesday was deemed of championship caliber by judges W. I. Brandon and New Jersey's Herb Heisel in the National Amateur Quail Championship here.

Commander's Big Coon, a black and white setter owned and handled by Carl Duffield of Abilene, Tex., found birds four times and had two unproductive points, but was picked up after he broke when birds flushed on his last find.

Rest Haven Spunky Hill, owned and handled by Harold Crane of Washington, D.C., came through with one good and one faulty find and a good race.

Vernon Wimbrow's Oak Hill Bob had three contacts on game, and Tom's Clypso, handled by owner Frank Oosterhoudt had one find and one false point. Miss Blizzard Tradewinds had four contacts with game.

Duffield's Commander Highwinds was lost after having two finds,

OLMEDO BEING SOUGHT FOR ATLANTA TOURNEY

Alex Olmedo, Ham Richardson, Tut Bartzen and Eddie Moylan are being sought for the Atlanta Invitational Tennis Tournament April 23-26.

Olmedo led Uncle Sam's forces to Davis Cup victory over the Australians last December. The hard-swinging Peruvian since has won the Australian Victorian Championship and the U.S. Indoor Championship.

Richardson teamed with Olmedo to capture the Davis Cup doubles, then got out of Down Under in a huff because he wasn't chosen to play singles.

Tut Bartzen is defending National Clay Court champion, and Moylan, the other nationally known player being invited, has been ranked in the first 10 in the United States for the last eight years.

KEGLER'S CORNER

ATLANTA TO ADD 52 LANES IN JULY

By PAUL ATKINSON

Atlanta's bowling skyline continues to grow . . . and apparently the sky's the limit.

Paul Atkinson

Frank Carter and Frank Branch, co-owners of Broadview Bowl-O-Matic, a 32-lane bowling establishment, said Tuesday that they are going in with 52 more lanes — 20 in Doraville and 32 at Sylvan Road and Perkerson Road intersection. The houses will be completed in July, according to present plans.

Earlier, Carter and Branch had announced that they would build a 40-lane house in the Lakewood sector. "That deal is still very much alive," said Branch. "But it appears that it'll be early in 1960 before we'll open."

The 32-lane emporium at Sylvan and Perkerson will cost approximately $750,000. It will have a tearaway wall on the right side, and should business be as lively as anticipated, 20 more lanes will be added next year.

This is expected to be one of the south's most plush establishments. Included, of course, will be a TV lounge, two club rooms, a pro shop with ball drilling facilities, lockers. To add to the attractiveness, there will be a clear span—no posts or similar hindrances.

In addition, there will be 500 bleacher seats of the foldaway variety to accomodate fans when exhibitions or tournaments are conducted.

The Doraville lanes will be located at the Pinetree Plaza Shopping Center. They'll be handy for the many General Motors employees.

"There's a great future in Atlanta bowling," said Branch. "And we believe that these lanes will greatly enhance it."

TENPIN ALLEY: Ralph Brunt, very likely Atlanta's most enthusiastic bowler, was bubbling over after his brilliant showing in Mobile at the Southern Bowling Congress Tournament. He took leads in all-events scratch and all-events handicap with totals of 1909 and 1981. "It was that 258 game I rolled first in the team events Saturday," said he in explanation. "It boosted me a lot." Young Brunt turned in a 258-191-213—662 scratch series in the team event; went 170-174-268—612 in the doubles, and 233-192-210—635 in the singles. He had 24 pins handicap down the line on each event. . . . Bob Barris and Rick Lux had 1910 and 1867 totals in the all-events handicap. Barris went 600 in the singles; 626 in doubles, and 540 in the team, added his 48 pins handicap. . . . Definitely the most novel bowling tournament we've come across was contested Saturday at Bowl-O-Matic. Delta Air Lines offices in Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis, Columbia, S.C., Evansville, Detroit, Miami, Houston and Atlanta got together and had a tournament; out-of-Atlantans flying in for the one-day deal. Atlanta entered two teams. "We sent invitations to all the cities to send teams," H. F. Tebo said. "They sent their handicaps and we drew up the rules according to ABC. The scores weren't too great, but it appears to have gone over real well with the participants and we hope to move the tournament around the circuit every year from herein." One Delta team from Atlanta included Tebo, Dan Jurgensen, J. T. Harper, Bill Young, Bob Chadick. It bowls in the Tuesday City Tenpin League.

SPEAKING OF NEW LEAGUES, one of the fastest growing leagues is the Mr. and Mrs. Club League, which is now in three segments on Tuesday, Wednesday and Sunday nights at Bowl-O-Matic. The league started with 15 bowlers, but now has 90. Most of 'em are first-year keglers. "They've really improved," said Bowl-O-Matic's Frank Hawkins, who has worked with 'em on their games. The team nicknames are patterned after three baseball circuits, the National, American and Southern. Alvin's Giants, Art's Travelers and Dan's Red Sox currently lead the Tuesday, Wednesday and Sunday leagues with records of 21-11, 21-11 and 19-9. Best averagers down the line are Alvin Halpern, Harold Weinkle and Hank Clayman with 162, 163 and 168 for the men; Margie Greenberg, Pauline Cohen and Jerry Clayman with 142, 141 and 142 for the women.

SCOREBOARDING: Best averages in the Broadview Bowlerette: Doris Spencer, 160; Lois Buelterman, Mary Woodard and Marge McClain, all at 157 . . . Happy Herman's ahead in City Tenpin League with 68-24. Second are Lithoplates No. 1 and Aluminum Craft Awning at 61-31. Ralph Brunt's 186 average best. Others: Karl Bartholomew, 182; Bob Rolader, 181; Bob Hoskins and Bill Garner, 179 . . . Sam O'Neil's 602 the only 600 game in the Northside rolling Monday . . . Southern Bowler All-Star singles lead held by Ben Downs at 269.27 Petersen points. Others in top five: Gray Hammond, 263.14; Ralph Brunt, 262.00; Sam O'Neil, 259.27; and Guy Bell, 253.09. Ralph Brunt's 255 game best over season, and papa George Brunt's 254 second best . . . Mel DeRamus, averaging 187, atop the Major Traveling League averages. Others: Ralph Brunt, 186; Alex Strickland, 185; Hal Evans and Guy Bell, 184 . . . The City Ladies Tenpin tournament has been awarded to O'Neil's Bowlerama, April 11-12.

DUCKPINNING. Atlantans Harold Asher, the nation's No. 1 duckpinner, and Billy Allen and Evelyn Traber represent this city over the weekend in the National Duckpin All-Star match game championships. This is the fifth annual event. According to a press release from the Arlington, Va., tournament site, contestants will go for a record $7,60 in prizes.

Bulldog Pass Attack Looking Up

Georgia will take into its '59 opener with Alabama should be far superior to the product displayed during the past 4-6 season.

A successful pass attack requires coordination from three directions. First, the coach's patterns; next, an accurate and able passer; last but not least, a clever and competent receiver.

Patterns are here, as attested by past success and tradition.

Britt and Lewis proved dependable throwers last season, the former with his running pitch and medium-speed missiles, the latter with his strong-armed efforts. Britt threw 75, completed 31 for 535 yards for a .413 percentage and three touchdowns. Lewis was 10-for-21 for 122 yards, a .476 percentage and no TDs.

If winter practice is a yardstick, Tarkenton apparently has caught up with his co-workers at quarterback. He shows progress in accuracy and distance.

"Francis has changed his style," offensive backfield coach Charley Trippi said here Tuesday. "Whereas he once held the ball awkwardly above his head, he now brings it closer to his ear before releasing it. He has come a long way from the boy who was an awful looking passer when he came to Georgia."

Defensive ace Jimmy Vickers is one of "the SEC's top short pass receivers," according to Gregory. Vickers specializes in pulling in the clutch throws needed for first downs.

"It is my opinion that our passing attack is definitely improved," says Gregory. "Our passers are better able to hit their targets, and our receivers have more experience in getting open."

SCRIMMAGE SCRAPS: Line Coach J. B. (Ears) Whitworth likes the aggressive play of guard Jack Bell, a Gainesville sophomore whose late father (Cy Bell) once beat Georgia for Oglethorpe. . . . Starting OBS Charley Britt (reds) and Francis Tarkenton (Whites) will act as captains, and when they're on the bench, their replacements step into the roles.

Harshman faced the minimum of 12 batters, fanning six. . . . The Yankees' Casey Stengel talked of switching Gil McDougald back to shortstop, playing Bobby Richardson regularly at second base and watched outfielder Norm Siebern work out at first base under guidance of scout Johnny Neun. . . . Pilot Al Lopez intimated that Ron Jackson, in his sixth year of trying to make the grade as White Sox first baseman, will have to do it this year. Jackson played in 61 games and hit only .233 last season.

EX-CRACKERS—Chuck Cottier, newest candidate for the Milwaukee second base job, made an impressive debut. Seeing his first game action, the 1958 Atlanta keystoner, released from the Air Force over the weekend, made a play that had everyone in camp buzzing. Cottier went far to his left and made a dazzling stop of a ground ball headed into right field. . . . Braves' manager Fred Haney announced that ex-Cracker George Maranda plus Juan Pizarro and Winston Brown would pitch against Pittsburgh Saturday.

AMONG THE AILING—Chicub shortstop Ernie Banks is suffering from infected tonsils and, if they have to come out, wants to have the operation now so he can get back into the lineup before the regular season begins. . . . The "Willie Jones Mystery" was cleared up when the veteran third baseman showed up in the Phillies' camp and reported a virus infection put him in bed three days. . . . Red Sox's Jackie Jensen reported a stiff neck and was ordered by pilot Mike Higgins to rest a few days. . . . Al Cicotte was hit on the kneecap by a smash off George Strickland's bat in Cleveland's squad game and may not be able to pitch Saturday as scheduled.

Godfrey Uses Tape To Bar Misquotes

By PAUL JONES

NEW YORK—Arthur Godfrey held a press conference here Tuesday—and put every word of it on a tape recording.

It was not so much what he said in the interview that mattered but the manner in which he said it that amused the out-of-town newspaper reporters who gathered for the conference on the 14th floor of the CBS-TV office building.

Paul Jones

Godfrey, who says he is the most misquoted personality in television, recently was involved in a controversy with Newsweek Magazine over a statement they attributed to him. The Newsweek story told that he soon will replace Edward R. Murrow on Person to Person and it contained some disparaging remarks which Godfrey allegedly made about the type of guests that Murrow has sometimes had on the show.

Mulling every question, Godfrey carefully worded each answer. He spoke in a loud, distinct voice in order that everything he said would be clearly understood should he find it necessary to play back the tape for any reason. Only two reporters, out of a group of six, made any notes at all. Only two reporters fired questions. The rest just sat back and listened.

In one breath he said he "was born with a great respect for the newspapers," but in the next he was deploring the fact that he has been "misquoted on the front page" and his "denial goes on the obituary page."

Here are some quotable quotes:

"Instead of my Tuesday night show they will give you something new—a Western. Ever heard of that?"

"You say are you going to use somebody like Dagmar on the show (Person to Person)? I'm gonna leave unanswered the question about Dagmar. She's a lovely girl. I'm going to use people who will be acceptable in your home."

About Person to Person's call on the Godfrey home in October, 1953, "My wife has never got over the way they loused up the living room. . . . "

"When am I told I do my best shows? When I think they stunk."

"Monday morning I did a helluva job with Jayne Meadows—that's Steve Allen's wife—I made people see she is all woman. Steve should be very happy—I would like to bring her back for a week and do a Jackie Gleason with her." (Meaning that he would like to repeat the conversation format which he and Gleason introduced so successfully.)

IF YOU THINK you have your problems you should have breakfast with three heroines of TV soap operas. I sat down at breakfast with Joan Hotchkis, of the Secret Storm; Murial Williams, of The Brighter Day, and Wendy Drew, of As the World Turns, and found these problems are staring them in the face:

Arthur Godfrey

Wendy is going to have an illegitimate baby Monday (on the show, of course). It's going to be a boy. . . . Muriel is suffering from psychosomatic deafness and she is estranged from her husband who has been running around with another woman, and Joan, who has been yearning for a steady romance on the show since she started, is about to be engaged to a widower with three children.

MARIA SCHELL, the beautiful European actress who will star in "For Whom the Bell Tolls" in a three-hour spectacular on Playhouse 90, March 12 and 19, took time off from shooting of her show to say that although she has been shorn of her long blonde hair and now wears a touseled close cut, she considers this role her most "glamorous." "The play's all about love, love, love, and what is more glamorous than love?" she asked.

The play, incidentally, is being taped in an old motion picture theater on First avenue which has been converted into a TV studio. The settings are probably the most elaborate ever constructed for a show of this type.

Jane Russell Collects Easy $1,000 a Week

By SHEILAH GRAHAM
North American Newspaper Alliance

Sheilah Graham

HOLLYWOOD—Jane Russell's actual working contract with Howard Hughes runs out in another year, but she will be paid at the rate of $1,000 a week for many years to come. Jane hasn't made a picture for Mr. Hughes for more than two years, and has no idea what his plans are, or if he will ever make another movie. . . . Not until the night of the telecast was CBS 100 per cent sure Diane Varsi would go on as "The Dingaling Girl" on Playhouse 90. And not since Gloria Swanson's heyday has so much temperament been showing.

Fess Parker's new deal with Paramount—12 pictures to be made in the next six years—will bring him $2,000,000. Which means more oil wells for "Davy Crockett," who already owns quite a few gushers. . . . What a difference a few years make! Montgomery Clift isn't mentioned in the ads for the reissue of "From Here to Eternity," yet he had star billing when the picture was originally released. . . . Raymond Massey's daughter, actress Anna Massey, expects her first baby this summer. She's married to a British actor, Jeremy Brett.

Yul Brynner flies to London for the premier of his movie, "The Journey," March 17, before reporting to Paris for his "Once More with Feeling" film with Kay Kendall.

Jane Russell

Glenn Ford gave Hollywood a boost when he stopped off in London en route to Spain for his movie with Debbie Reynolds. "The Hollywood I know consists of people like James Stewart and Roy Rogers," said Glenn. "People who go to church, remain happily married, raise fine families. But who wants to read about such things? People like to hear the scandals. There are a lot of nice people there, but nice people apparently make dull reading."

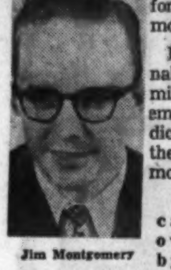
Outlook for Jobs Grows Brighter

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Current employment is high and the outlook is even better in Georgia's two largest metropolitan areas.



Jim Montgomery

Metropolitan Atlanta can look forward to "a gradual increase in jobs and a moderate decline in unemployment . . . for the next two months."

In the Savannah area, "a mild uptrend in employment is indicated during the next two months."

These forecasts were overshadowed by figures showing statewide employment records in the latest labor market trend report issued this week by the Georgia Department of Labor.

Supporting its Atlanta area prediction, the department noted:

"Construction employment is expected to show a seasonal upturn and pre-Easter sales will expand employment in retail trade.

"The recent settlement of a labor dispute in primary metals (at Atlantic Steel) is another important factor."

The department's new report made it evident, without bragging about it, that from now on it will provide a lot more information about Atlanta and Savannah labor trends.

The Metropolitan Atlanta report has been revised to include figures for Gwinnett County.

And the monthly reports for provide new tabulations covering the total civilian labor force, to- the Atlanta and Savannah areas tal (farm and nonfarm) employment, insured unemployment and the number of workers involved in labor disputes.

The latter item brought out some interesting facts regarding the Atlanta area last January.

It just wasn't as tranquil as the opening month of 1958, when there were no strikes in the area. But although this year opened with 1,350 workers involved in labor disputes, the number was 900 below the December level.

Total employment in the area (including the 2,850 folks in agricultural pursuits) reached 394,450 in the final month of 1958, then took a seasonal spill of nearly 6,000 to a January level of 388,500—or 3,100 more than a year earlier.

The five-county civilian labor force dropped from 413,500 in December to 406,900 in January, which compared with 404,200 in the same 1958 month.

And area unemployment rose from 16,800 in December to 17,050 in January, which was still 1,750 lower than in January of 1958.

Atlanta area unemployment failed to rise in proportion to the December-January drop in employment, labor statisticians noted, because many seasonal workers hired in December withdrew from the labor force when their temporary jobs ended.

Pontiac Sales Here 53 Pct. Above 1958

Pontiac sales are on the upswing, with Atlanta zone sales so far this year year 53 per cent above those for the corresponding 1958 period, Lonnie H. Holmes, Pontiac regional manager, told dealers and salesmen here Tuesday.

Southern region sales in 14 states are up 42 per cent over those for the first two months of last year, Holmes said. He said that in both Atlanta and the Southern region Pontiac is outselling "all but three other makes of autos."

Holmes and W. J. Brooks, Atlanta zone manager, are currently staging a series of breakfast meetings in Georgia, Tennessee, Florida and Alabama to map sales plans.

Atlanta Produce

Trading and receipts were light on the Atlanta fruit and vegetable market Tuesday morning, according to the A.M.S. Prices showed very little change with some Florida vegetables in limited supply. Citrus fruits and sweet potatoes were unchanged. Florida cabbage jobbed 1.50-1.75 per bag with some fair stock 1.25-1.50 and poorer and white 75-1.00 per bag. Greens were more plentiful and about steady as bushels of turnip greens and mustard sold 1.25-1.50; turnips ranged 1.25-2.00 and poorer 1.00 with collards mostly 1.25-1.50 per dozen bunches and few bushels 1.00-1.25.

Green onions in light supply and demand were 75-1.00, mostly 80-90 cents per dozen. Few Florida Wade and pole beans brought mostly 3.75-4.00 bushel; few fair to good Yellow Crookneck squash were 8.00-9.00, best mostly 9.00 bushel; some Cuban fair cucumbers were 11.00-12.00 and Florida medium bell peppers sold 4.50-5.00 with others 3.25-4.00 and poorer and small 2.50-3.00. Few fair eggplant were 3.00-3.50 and Cuban okra at 5.25-5.50 per six-basket crate.

Florida crates of fancy five-dozen yellow corn jobbed mostly at 4.00 and some U.S. No. 1 5½ dozen at 3.25. Florida celery was steady as 16-inch crates of Pascal three dozen sold at 2.15-2.25 and few four dozen at 2.00. Radishes, escarole, endive, romaine and parsley were unchanged. Florida 50-pound bags of round red potatoes also held at recent levels of 1.50-1.75 for U.S. No. 1 size A and few size B for 1.75. Many poorer size A were 90-1.25 and some 75-85 cents with few poor lower.

Insurance Firm Plans More State Investment

By MARJORY RUTHERFORD

The 1959 business year "will be good—but it will not reach high levels of 1956 and early 1957," the president of the nation's 10th largest insurance company predicted here Tuesday.

Leland J. Kalmbach, president of Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co., in Atlanta for a meeting with local agency officials, said balanced national budget "would make for a sounder economy than anything else could do."

He declared it was "unfortunate that the people of the United States are beginning to take the attitude that inflation is inevitable" and termed "our unbalanced budget fantastic in these prosperous times."

Kalmbach criticized recent tax legislation passed by the House and said proposed increases amounted to "penalizing thrift at a time when this country needs increased savings to combat the threat of inflation."

Massachusetts Mutual expects to increase its investments in Georgia, the firm's top man reported. Kalmbach said the company now holds more than $32 million in Georgia investments, mainly in the Atlanta area. Massachusetts Mutual, with a current $6.7 billion insurance in force and $2.2 billion in asseas, last year purchased $233 million worth of new investments with an average return of 5.33 per cent, Kalmbach reported.

Life of Georgia Adds to Assets And Insurance

Assets of Life Insurance Co. of Georgia showed a 9.42 per cent increase, while the volume of life insurance in force rose during 1958 to beyond a billion and a half dollars, stockholders heard at their annual meeting Tuesday.

President R. Howard Dobbs Jr. told stockholders that, in addition to steady financial growth, Life of Georgia has, through a "product development program" of the past year put itself in a position "to move forward at a rapidly accelerating pace."

The exact amount of assets was $171,779,931. Life insurance in force was $1,582,876,837, an increase of $116,731,435. During the year, policyholders and beneficiaries received $16,972,864, a million and a half more than in 1957. The rate of interest earned on investments in 1958 was 3.69 per cent, compared with 3.66 per cent of the year before. The company's income from premiums was $52,301,000, a million more than the year before.

Stockholders elected two new members of the board of directors: W. Sheffield Owen, vice president for business development, and Al B. Richardson, vice president, public relations.

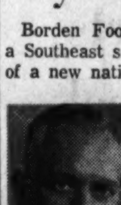
Sales Region Is Set Up By Borden

Borden Foods Co. has formed a Southeast sales district as part of a new national marketing pattern designed to coordinate sales activities within a single organization.



Oliver D. Hall

Oliver D. Hall, University of Georgia graduate, Tuesday was named district sales manager for the new area.

Borden Foods Co., a division of the Borden Co., came into being a year ago through merger of Borden Cheese and Food Products divisions. Spokesmen pointed out that establishment of the new Southeast district — comprising Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and the Carolinas — completes a pattern of six sales districts over the nation.

The Southeast district is divided into two sales areas. Paul J. Hartley of Atlanta will serve as sales manager of the Carolinas and Augusta areas plus eastern Tennessee. He will be assisted by H. M. Rogers of Atlanta and A. E. Veazey of Birmingham.

Ralph H. Peterson of Atlanta will be sales manager of the area including Alabama, Florida and all of Georgia except the Augusta market. Serving with him will be territory supervisors J. M. Hand of Atlanta and B. W. Riggs of Orlando.

Atlanta was selected as regional headquarters, George C. Leary, national sales manager of Borden Foods' Southeast district, said, because its strategic location "has made it the most important center in the Southeast."

Stereo in Cars Seen in 5 Years

Stereo will be in America's luxury automobiles within the next five years, and homes of the future will be "music-conditioned as a matter of course," Leon Knize, sales manager for Stromberg-Carlson's high fidelity and stereo division, declared here Tuesday.

Stromberg-Carlson's new line was unveiled for dealers in this area "at the first showing in the nation" during a meeting of the National Assn. of Music Merchants in Atlanta. Knize said official dealers' showings would not be held, even in New York, until late March. He said his firms "expects to do record business in 1959" and is optimistic about the future.

Stock Rise Laid to Fear Of Inflation

NEW YORK (AP)—Fear of inflation helped boost stock prices to record highs in 1958, G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said Tuesday.

Other bullish forces, he said in his annual report, were a shortage in the available supply of most-wanted stocks, and "a general confidence in the future trend of earnings."

Funston pointed out that share prices, as measured by the popular averages, increased 34 per cent last year.

He said Americans were willing to pay higher prices for stocks because of a "very real fear of continued inflation," which caused many people to turn to stocks as a way of keeping up with living costs.

Funston warned that while fear of inflation may temporarily stimulate volume and prices on the stock market, the long-range effects "are harmful."

Shares Ride Rails To Record High

Space-Age Issues Still Soar; AT&T Hits Peak for Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced to another record peak in the heaviest trading since November.

An estimated 2½ billion dollars was added to the quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

A long hoped-for rally by rails and a continued comeback by oils put meat and bones on the market's recent uptrend. Wall Street analysts had been nervous about the failure of rails to "confirm" the industrials.

Meanwhile, the missile-rocket-electronic issues continued to make strides, although some of them fell victim to a bit of profit-taking after recent sensational advances.

Drugs, aircrafts, utilities and the Big Three motors rose. Steels were mixed despite a record-breaking scheduled operating rate for the industry.

High-flying Zenith added another 13 points, putting the price at 233. Borne Chemical on the American Stock Exchange rose 12½ to 74.

Among the pivotal stocks which govern the averages, gains ran from fractions to 3 to 4 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.90 to a new record of $222.70 topping the previous mark of $221.60 set a week ago. The industrials rose $2.30 to another all-time peak.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index verified the records by advancing .52 to 56.25, a historic top.

U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower in slow dealings over the counter.

All prices subject to change
As far as common stocks go—that's always been true.
But recently we've noticed that a good many people, who are buying stocks for the first time, seem to think prices only change in one direction—up.
And that isn't true.
Stocks never were and never will be just a one way road to riches.
There's always some risk in any form of investment—and that includes common stocks, too. The risk that there may come a time when you're forced to sell at a loss.
So if you're just buying stocks today, in the hope of a quick profit tomorrow, remember that the problem of sound selection always increases with a general rise in prices . . . that a seasoned appraisal of all the available facts becomes more and more important.
And when it comes to that, you may find that we can be of service.

Sugar Futures

Domestic futures also sagged in sympathy with a declining trend in raws. Nearby May made a new low for the season.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—The cotton textile market was firm Tuesday with prices of print cloths moving up fractionally in the face of tight supplies. The popular 80 square print cloth sold at 18⅝ cents a yard for average makes, up ⅛ cent. In a few cases this number might be still available at 18½ cents. Other producers quoted 18¾ cents.

The 38½-inch 64x60 5.35 yards print cloths edged upward ⅛ cent to 14⅝ cents a yard. Print cloth selling was for second and third quarters.

Broadcloths, drills and sheetings were also sold. Mill circle talk said most mills will continue five-day-a-week operations on print cloths.

The wool goods market was slow. Reordering of fall fabrics in appreciable volume was still pending. Australian wool auctions were firm, according to private reports.

Spot and nearby buying of types of rayons was brisk mostly in the filament category. Slightly higher prices were quoted on some of the cotton synthetic blends.
